Senators Told 'Gag' Rule Fight Must End Today

Majority Leader Lucas Says
Windup Must Come Before Session Ends
Tonight

RENT CONTROL IS TO COME UP FRIDAY

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(I.N.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Majority Leader Lucas (D) Ill., told senators today they must wind up the already-decided "gag" rule fight before they go home tonight.

The outcome already is determined by the pledge of 52 senators to support the "Wherry compromise" rule plan which Lucas said will kill President Truman's civil rights program.

The battle-torn chamber recessed at 8:05 p.m. Wednesday night to 11 a.m. today, an hour earlier than the usual opening, to renew the fight.

Seeks To Salvage Program

At the same time, Sen. Humphrey (D) Minn., opened an effort to salvage the civil rights program by an overtime Senate session this summer.

Humphrey circulated a petition calling for pledges of Senators to vote against adjournment next July unless there has been votes on civil rights legislation.

The Minnesotan said he hopes to get "40 or more" signers—including some co-sponsors of the administration—opposed Wherry amendment.

Lucas and majority whip Myers (D) Pa., admitted, however, that there is not the slightest chance of averting the pre-arranged adoption of the coalition sponsored gag rule which seriously threatens Mr. Truman's entire legislative program.

Seeks Disposition

The majority leader said he wanted to dispose of the contro-

An intersection that perhaps might be more plainly marked by the street or highway department is Taylor street and Neal where the spur route 422 and the portion of Taylor street not on the route intersect. Almost daily motorists heading west on Taylor street traveling to South Hill street have many near misses from cars that are traveling east. East and west bound traffic is supposed to stop at the dangerous curve.

Coalition In Congress Threatens Defeat For President's Program

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I.N.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The alliance of southern Democrats and Republicans in the 81st congress today threatens to defeat President Truman's entire legislative program.

The coalition which sent the administration spinning to defeat on its attempt to limit debate on the senate floor, gives every indication of becoming a permanent power for the remainder of the session. House Republican Leader Martin of Mass., bluntly declared: "If they wait for Mr. Truman's

Fail To Reach Solution On Issue Of Berlin

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I.N.S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., March 17.—The United States, Britain and France showed little inclination in the United Nations today to precipitate a new battle on the deadlocked Berlin issue and arrange Russia before the security council again.

The three western powers issued individual statements in the wake of the report of the security council's committee of currency experts, the statements pinned all blame on the Soviet Union for failure to achieve a Berlin monetary solution.

Rejected Plan

The western allies rejected the security council committee's plan on the grounds that it would give the Russians one-sided control of trade and currency for all of Berlin.

The neutral committee consequently abandoned attempts to find a solution acceptable to all four powers and thus shattered

Charge Balkan States Violate Peace Treaties

WASHINGTON, March 17.—(INS)—The United States and Britain plan today to press their case against the Soviet-dominated Balkan states for flagrant violation of peace treaties.

A hint that such action is imminent was given by the state department in Washington and British Minister of State Hector McNeil in the House of Commons in London.

Russia was charged with encouraging the former Axis satellites of Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania, now in the communist camps, to defy their obligations as defeated powers.

The statements implied that the issue may be carried to the United Nations. They were made within 24 hours after machinery designed to defuse the peace treaties had been a hold-up.

For the 18 months following the coming into force of the treaties, diplomatic missions of Russia, the United States and Britain were completely unaware that someone in the building had phonied in the holdup report.

Police immediately began checking other offices in the belief that there might have been a holdup elsewhere in the skyscraper building.

He was examined for bruises of the left leg in the New Castle hospital and discharged. He was not seriously injured.

For the 18 months following the coming into force of the treaties, diplomatic missions of Russia, the United States and Britain were charged with the authority of seeing that the treaties were observed.

That time expired March 15.

French Communists Call For Battle Against Alliance

PARIS, March 17.—(INS)—French Communists intensified their offensive against the Atlantic pact today, calling on workers to "unite and battle together" against the alliance.

The French cabinet's approval last night of France's entry into the treaty with the U.S., Canada and western European states, touched off new Communist "war scare" tactics.

One consolation folks have these days is the knowledge that regardless of weather conditions, spring is just a few days away, and it can improve very fast, once it gets started. Last March, the mercury got up into the 70's on four successive days, March 19, 20, 21

Schedules Meeting With Press At Key West On Friday Morning

MAY AIR VIEWS ABOUT CONGRESS

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I.N.S. Staff Correspondent)

U. S. BASE, Key West, Fla., March 17.—President Truman today kept behind sealed lips his strategy in a new and bitter fight with the congress.

The chief executive went fishing but he sat glued and preoccupied with his own thoughts.

Meets Press Friday

Tomorrow he will have his first "on the record" meeting with the press since his arrival here nearly two weeks ago. This sounding board will permit the president to speak out on what he thinks of the political maneuverings in the congress that has seen his program and recommendations take three decisive defeats.

The decision to hold a press conference apparently was reached in view of the setback on the civil rights question.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, in setting the conference for 9:30 a.m. Friday, said that the president had no special announcements to make.

Departs Saturday

The important thing, however, was that the president will meet with White House correspondents the day before he departs for plane for Washington.

There will be questions asked,

False Report Of Bank Holdup In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—Hundreds of Philadelphia police converged on one of the city's largest banks today after receiving a false telephone alarm that the institution had been held up.

The invitations were issued by the state department on the eve of publication of the historic pact which binds its signatories to an all-for-one alliance in case of attack.

Text of the treaty will be made public at 11 a.m. (EST) Friday and the formal ceremonies of signing the pact will be held in Washington early in April.

Invitations Sent

Invitations were sent to the four nations at the instruction of the other powers who have been working on the treaty draft since midsummer. They are the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Norway.

The foreign ministers of Iceland and Denmark were being conferred in Washington on the pact. It is regarded as almost automatic that they will join although they entered too late to participate in the formative discussions.

It is understood that both Rome and Lisbon indicated their willingness to enter into the alliance before the invitations were issued.

Discussions of the terms under which each might join have been going on in both capitals for some weeks as well as in Washington.

Father Burant and Edward Kozmor assumed responsibility for the group, whom they talked into surrendering so that their cases could be handled officially.

North Atlantic Alliance May Have 12 Nations

LONDON, March 17.—(INS)—Europe's non-communist nations, from the northern reaches of Scandinavia to the eastern Mediterranean, today indicated their determination to align themselves against Soviet aggression.

With the signing of the historic North Atlantic Alliance scheduled for April 4 or whereabouts in Washington, European capitals witnessed a flurry of last minute diplomatic activity.

Of chief interest was the news from Washington that Portugal and Italy will attend the formal signing ceremonies. Invitations were also issued to Iceland and Denmark.

Thus the expanding alliance may at its outset consist of 12 nations—the original members being the U.S., Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Norway is also expected to sign the agreement.

The decision to hold a press conference apparently was reached in view of the setback on the civil rights question.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, in setting the conference for 9:30 a.m. Friday, said that the president had no special announcements to make.

W. A. Hoffmaster Retires in June

Principal Of Croton And North Street Schools To End School Service

TEACHES 46 YEARS IN LAWRENCE CO.

After 46 years of service in the public schools of Lawrence county, W. A. Hoffmaster, principal of the Croton and North street schools, is retiring.

Mr. Hoffmaster has presented his retirement resignation to the New Castle School Board and when school ends in June it will mark Mr. Hoffmaster's last day with the system.

Born in Lawrence county Mr. Hoffmaster attended the Canfield Academy and later Ohio Wesleyan University, in Delaware, O. In 1904 he started his teaching career in the Quakertown (now Carbon) school. Later he taught in the White School in Union township and the South New Castle Boro school. In 1913 he came to the city system, taking over the principalship of the Croton school. At one time he also handled the Thaddeus Stevens school and for many years has had the North street school.

Since 1913 he has been an institution in the Croton district. Before the first World War he organized the Croton Drum Corps, and the corps is still an active musical organization in the school.

Mr. Hoffmaster's work as a schoolman has always been marked by the old fashioned zeal of schoolmen. The school system has been in favor of releasing school children in grades 4 and 5 for one hour a week for religious instruction.

He said that originally the proponents of the plan had asked for

HOLLYWOOD, March 16.—RKO current flicker, "Adventure in Baltimore," Agar will be "much better than he was in his first film effort."

"He was nervous and couldn't relax in 'Fort Apache,'" she said. "Even in scenes with me."

"I was scared stiff," admitted Agar. "I didn't mind the action scenes so much but in the quieter closeups my knees shook and I still don't know how I managed to add."

May Win Oscar

Shirley, a dutiful and beautiful bride, put her arm around her personal leading man and remarked: "He was nervous the first day or two in this picture. Then all of a sudden he relaxed, and his acting was much better. My husband is going to become a fine actor. I'll bet he wins an Academy Award before he's through."

Agar blushed.

Shirley opined as how she is downright proud of her hubby who rapidly is becoming a new idol of the bobby-six brigade. She added:

"Of course I'm more at ease in love scenes with Jack. I'm kind of new at movie love-making. But don't let the old-timers kid you, either, with talk about romantic scenes being just part of the job."

"If an actor and actress love each other it shows on the screen. And if they hate each other, that shows up even more."

Wouldn't Be At Ease

Agar, looking positively scared, muttered:

"I wouldn't be at ease making love to any other girl. Before the camera, that is."

Shirley ignored hubby's crack and explained quickly that in their

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT STYLE SHOW

Approximately 800 style conscious ladies witnessed the Spring Fashion Review which was given by the Strauss-Hirschberg company on their new fashion floor, Wednesday evening and sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club.

Preceding the Style Review three beautiful vocal numbers were rendered by Mrs. George Streicher, accompanied by Mrs. Jacob Jordon. Following the review, Miss Evelyn Spencer, president of the B. P. W. club made a few appropriate remarks, thanking all for their splendid cooperation in making the review a success, and thus furthering the work of the Cancer Detection Center.

Miss Mary Harvard, in her very pleasing manner, was in charge of the review and described each number as the models displayed the beautiful outfits. She was assisted by Miss Bertha Jinks. A very lovely setting of palms and ferns added a great deal to the atmosphere and Miss Olive Webb at the piano provided a musical background throughout the review.

The fashion review opened with two curly headed little girls dressed in yellow pajamas followed by other models in lovely robes. Among these were an ensemble negligee of pink chiffon nylon with a lace trim, a gay print nousecoat with a big yoke edged with tiny ruffles, a beautiful hostess coat in coachman style in blue satin with natural lace trim, a candy stripe zipper housecoat in cotton seersucker for the young junior and a three-piece pajama suit of print broadcloth for the college girl. These were followed by fashions of all kinds in plain, colored and gay prints with gorgeous matching accessories. The lovely hats added the correct touch to the well groomed models.

The formals were all very beautiful. Carol Meister modeled a blue taffeta gown fashioned with ruffles upon ruffles. Judy Storch was lovely in a teenager's white taffeta gown with ruffled shoulder line, and a full skirt trimmed with ruffles. Donna Battley wore a charming pre-teen formal of yellow net and little Carol Williams wore a gown of yellow marquiseette followed by Charlene Keller in a blue marquiseette gown.

The wedding party caused quite a stir in the audience with June Travers as the bride dressed in a magnificent gown of white slipper satin. The bridesmaids were Marjorie Rapson and Betty Houk, dressed in primrose marquiseette. Carol Williams and Charlene Keller were flower girls.

The charming models were Mrs. Clarke Hammitt, Mrs. Marie Hogue, Mrs. Lee Allen, Mrs. Harry Baron, Mrs. Hilda Bruce, Mrs. Richard Marquise, the Misses Betty Houk, Marjorie Rapson, June Travers, Barbara Marquis, Carol Meister, Judy Storch, Donna Battley, Charlene Keller and Carol Williams.

Ushers were: Lucille Lutton, Ruth Cleaveland, Evelyn Cavin, Maureen Van Gorder, Jane McGrew Kemp, and Martha McNamee.

The beautiful door prizes were won by Miss Rita L. Metz, and Mrs. Lora Kaatz.

Members of the finance committee of the B. P. W. club were in charge of the review, with Miss Mary Bigley chairman, and Miss Helen Keder as co-chairman. Members of the committee are: Nancy Bechtol, Mary Bradford, Ruth Cleaveland, Mary Harvard, Lora Kaatz, Lucille Lutton, Mary McMullen, Ora Muse and Virginia Pierson.

versy once and for all so the Senate could proceed with rent control and other measures caught in a log-jam by the filibuster fight.

The majority leader said that he expects to take up the rent control bill tomorrow. To be ready for action, it must be rushed to the floor today by the Senate Banking committee.

Out of the rent control action may come a tangible indication of whether the Republican-Dixie coalition which figured in the administration defeat on the gague issue will carry over to other parts of President Truman's program.

The compromise rules provides that a minimum of 64 senators can gag debate on all Senate business except "a motion to consider" a future anti-filibuster rule change—which will be left wide open to a new talkathon.

Republican Policy Chairman Taft of Ohio, who split with his GOP leadership colleagues by supporting the administration drive for a tighter curb on filibusters, prepared to take the floor today to deliver one in a series of "for-the-record" speeches.

Four Democrats also were scheduled to assail the compromise as a "sell-out of Dixie". Those senators, bitter about the coalition deal, were Senators Pepper, Fla.; Douglas, Ill.; Myers, Pa., and Neely, W. Va.

The three western powers cited the splitting of Berlin city into two administrative bodies as the primary obstacle to an agreement on currency.

All three statements re-emphasized the rights of the western powers to full participation in the administration of Berlin and said that the blockade must be lifted by the Russians before any agreement is possible.

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal? If so, here is how you may rid yourself of this nervous distress.

Thousands have found it the way to be.

Evening foods often leave the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas trouble cause a nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restlessness, sleeplessness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow. It is the first remedy due to a non-toxic stomach disturbance.

This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build up non-toxic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better and have more energy.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of soda and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dear need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food, to help you sleep and repair.

be based upon his rent as of 1947. A tenant who had already been assessed less than 15 per cent, say 10 per cent, would be open to an additional five per cent.

Then majority policy chief, Taft in 1947 hotly defended the 15 per cent "voluntary increase" written into the rent law that year and continued a year ago.

Views Not Final

He emphasized today that his views on the rent extension are not final, but said he would prefer seeing federal rent control end soon to having it continued more than another year with added relief for landlords.

Taft also is understood to feel that there is nothing too complicated about the "fair return" approach for rent ceilings, if any increase is to be provided now. He points out that the return-on-investment yardstick is used in the public utilities.

The house Tuesday passed a 15-month control extension bill which also authorizes a state, county or local legislative body to end rent control within its jurisdiction.

The senate version transfers rent control authority from federal to state hands when the governor of a given state advises the housing expediter his legislature has "adequately provided" for rent control and is ready to take over.

NEW CASTLE MAN ROBBED OF $2485

placed each man's money in an envelope and stepped out of the car.

As he did so two men walked up to him pushed guns into his ribs and ordered him to get into his car.

"If you keep quiet no harm will come to you," one of them said.

One bandit got into the car with Mr. Johns while the second bandit followed in another car. Mr. Johns was forced to drive over Budd Avenue to South Irvine street, then turned off South Irvine to Ohio street and on to Masury.

Into Vacant Field

Mr. Johns was then forced to drive into a vacant field near Masury where the bandit took the money. He warned Mr. Johns to stand in the field with his back to the bandit's car.

One of the men turned down the money plates on the car and they sped away towards Warren, O.

Mr. Johns called Trumbull county officials and Deputy Sheriff W. C. Wilson responded. He took Mr. Johns back to Farrell where he told police his story.

One of the men is said to be about 5 feet 3 inches, weighing about 180, the other tall and slender. They drove away in a 1947 maroon Chevrolet sedan.

School Coaches Named By Board

Athletic Coaches For New Castle Public Schools Are Re-elected

OTHER ACTION IN ATHLETIC MATTERS

Philip H. Bridenbaugh, head football coach of the senior high school was given a one year contract, Wednesday night at the meeting of the school board. His salary was reduced $150, to make it $2350 for the year. This is his coaching salary, and not for teaching.

Along with Mr. Bridenbaugh's election the following coaches continue at the same coaching salaries they received for the past year. George Thomas, $1,100; William L. Klee, $800; Austin W. Cowmeadow, $800; Clark McClelland, $500; George Binder, $300; Miller Kerr, $325; George Massie, $325; Martin Leonhardt, $150; Rees Flannery, $150. Robert Mills, faculty manager was re-elected at $500; J. H. E. McKenzie, business manager at $600 and Robert L. Stewart, equipment manager at $300.

"Wide Discrepancy"

"The reason for the reduction is the wide discrepancy in salaries," said Daniel B. Woolcock.

Said Director A. C. Hyde, "I don't know of another coach in Pennsylvania getting as much money as Mr. Bridenbaugh, but neither do I know of a coach getting the results he has achieved."

"Last season's team was unusually good and the results were gratifying. This looks to me like a peculiar time to cut his salary."

Director William D. Cobau then moved the salary be set at $2350 and Dr. Flannery seconded the motion. Dr. Jackson then moved an amendment to the motion making the salary $2500. This was defeated. Upon the motion to make the salary $2350 the vote was "Yes," Cobau, Flannery, Hoffmaster, Brookover and Reynolds. "No," Hyde, Jackson, Samuels and Woolcock. Woolcock explained his vote of no by saying he thought it was still too high.

Upon the adoption of the motion setting the salary at $2350, Woolcock moved the election of Bridenbaugh as head coach and this passed unanimously. His contract is for one year. Previously he had a three year contract.

Discuss Salary

The reduction of Bridenbaugh's salary brought a number of heated remarks both for and against. The matter came before the board when Dr. W. Fulton Jackson was asked to report the recommendation of the athletic committee.

formal meeting of the board a week ago some recommendations were made. The list shows Mr. Bridenbaugh's salary at $2350 and this amount I will not recommend. "Mr. Bridenbaugh has been with the New Castle school system since 1922. In that time he has given the city fine football teams, winners most of the time, and in the season just passed he turned out a championship team.

"That championship team went to Pittsburgh and played for the WPIAL championship which it won. The return to this school was $6,900. After all expenses were taken out there was a net of about $4,500 remaining.

"Reducing his salary from $2500 to $2350, particularly at this time seems to me to be petty and cheap. The profits of the 1948 football season were more than the total receipts of some of the years in the middle thirties. To reduce him at this time looks to me like a slap in the face."

LITTLE DIFFERENCE

The outside world was startled recently by the announcement from Moscow that Vishinsky had been given Molotov's place and Molotov had been awarded another assignment. Other cabinet changes were mentioned.

Immediately there began to arise speculation in various quarters as to what effect these changes might have on Soviet policy. Some "experts" opined that the change meant a "softening" of policy toward the western nations while others predicted it forecast a harder policy. In our humble opinion it means very little if anything.

It must be said that fundamental Soviet policy never changes. This is to destroy the system of private enterprise by any means, fair or foul, that can be concocted. It may be that occasionally there seems to be a shift in the Russian line. But the Red leaders have always permitted temporary changes to meet changing conditions. In the past there have been indications at times of a softening toward religion or even capitalism. But this softening is always temporary, and ceases when the need for it has ended. For example, during the World War when Moscow badly needed the aid of the Western Nations, Stalin enunciated a policy of "tolerance" toward religion. This "toleration" has now ended up in mock trials and purges such as we have witnessed recently against ministers in Hungary and in Bulgaria.

There seems to be little need for strengthening Russia's policy in Europe now by a cabinet change. It has been as strong as possible—aside from outright invasion—ever since the war ended. And it has worked well for the Reds. They have gobbled up everything in sight, including half of Germany, and hope eventually to take over France and Italy if they can continue to maintain confusion in Europe. For Communists fatten on confusion and chaos.

There seems to be little chance of much softening on the part of the Soviets, therefore, so long as their objective of destroying Western civilization is maintained. Any apparent softening of policy there might be would only be temporary for the purpose of getting a firmer toe-hold in Europe and Asia, in order to prepare the Red bosses for the final kill. Therefore it will not pay to get too excited about this latest cabinet shakeup in Russia.

WHY DICTATORS LIE

One of the advantages of republican government is that it helps keep public officials reasonably truthful. The United States may have just as many born liars as Russia, but when they hold public office the spotlight of publicity and the right to answer back keep them from getting away with too many lies for too long. In dictatorships no such curbs exists.

It is easy to answer the Moscow radio, for instance, when it says that British and American airlift planes have taken nearly 24,000,000 tons of dismantled industrial equipment out of Berlin in the last eight months. The fact is that the planes hauled only 1,000,000 tons of food and other cargo into Berlin, although they were so heavily loaded they barely managed to take off. They couldn't have carried out 24 times as much as they carried in.

That preposterous lie would hardly survive the telling in a free country. But the Russians can tell it anywhere behind the iron curtain, knowing that no newspaper or radio will answer back within their domain. The American radio may eventually answer it from outside, but it will reach a much smaller audience than Communist propaganda media, and it will be partly suspect because of its foreign origin.

So dictators and their henchmen, whether they are born liars or not, are encouraged to lie because getting away with it is so easy. A free press is a deterrent to lying, a government press is based on a lie—the lie that it is a press at all.

NO 'MIRACLE' WEAPONS

Defense officials and others have devoted some attention recently, as Secretary of Defense Forrestal did to efforts to remove fantastic misconceptions of the newer weapons of modern warfare.

This has led to statements that the atomic bomb, though the most terrible weapon of war thus far used, cannot be as destructive or produce such serious after affects—from radiation—as had originally been supposed.

On top of this Mr. Forrestal dismisses such extravagant notions as the idea that a small amount of germs could "wipe out 200,000,000 people." His remark was elicited in connection with Army announcement that bacteriological warfare research in the United States, initiated primarily to devise defenses against that horrible device, is ahead of that of any other nation.

It is to be hoped that the certainty of worse reprisals will, as in the case of poison gas, deter any country from resorting to germ warfare. It is also to be hoped that in due time all nations, fully realizing the dangers of atomic warfare, will cooperate to eliminate it entirely.

In the meantime it is essential that the American people shall not acquire "Maginot Line" misconceptions that either atomic or chemical weapons are "irresistible." They are bad enough. But there will be no final security for America unless its people are resolute and strong to defend themselves by their individual efforts, and without unfounded reliance upon "miracle" weapons.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

A deliberate attempt to deceive the world or at least to perpetuate the atmosphere of mystery that makes Soviet diplomacy an unpredictable factor can be seen today in decisions of the Soviet supreme council in Moscow.

Along with the shifts in high cabinet positions and the apparent drafting of new long-range industrial and armament plans, one factor stands out that seems to throw light on the Russians' tactics:

In explaining the removal of politburo members from Lenin and Rybov-Russia, officials announced in a phrase that was at once sinister and provocative, that the gentlemen in question were "relieved" because "they do not work there any more."

Work Anywhere?

A question naturally arises: Do they work anywhere? Are they in Siberian salt-mines or concentration camps? Are they alive at all?

This element of theatrics is entirely characteristic of Soviet high policy. Russians and foreigners alike are left to wonder. To non-Russians it frequently appears that the Stalinists enjoy nothing more than cooking up little mysteries and springing little surprises.

This almost naive fondness for sleight-of-hand has been part of the Russian character for centuries.

It was well displayed by Prince Potemkin who built papier-mâché villages to receive the near-sighted Empress Catherine.

More recently, Stalin has arranged to have men like Maxim Litvinov and Marshals Blücher and Timoshenko to dart in and out of the picture. Just when the world has become convinced that any one of them has died in disgrace, obscurity of exile, up he pops at the Kremlin, rich in capulettes and garlanded with honors and the guessing-game starts all over again.

May Have Little Significance

In actual point of fact, the cabinet shifts may have far less significance than surface appearance indicates.

Certainly the cold war and the vast developments in the western world which have accompanied the post-war cleavage are more than sufficient to justify a Soviet re-orientation.

There have been many changes in the United States, in Great Britain and in France. Some of these have been political, others to correct administrative errors.

The difference is that in the west there has been no secrecy, surprise or mumbo-jumbo.

Probably the most important shift except that of Foreign Minister V. Molotov himself was the case of Nikolai Voznesensky, the great apostle of planned economy in peace and war.

His place has been taken by a virtual unknown and the shift pre-

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

EMOTIONAL UPSETS DON'T CURE THIS PROBLEM

Yesterday we considered the emotional problems of bed-wetting. Urging parents always to have the physician check on the bed-wetting child, we discussed the case of a bed-wetting boy, five. As you will recall, this lad awakened dry sometimes. Common-sense correction of his problem is to "celebrate his successes," and to feel no annoyance over his failures.

But suppose you have a child five, eight, twelve or older who never awakens dry in the morning, and he has been checked by a physician, who found him physically sound. Then your best method will be to set the stage so he will have some successes to be celebrated. How? Well, by setting a clock, you or Dad can get the child to the toilet often enough to keep him dry all night, during enough nights to prove to him there can be success. By continuing this clock-help, you might, after several successful nights, lengthen the intervals gradually.

Better still, if the child has his own clock and it calls himself up often enough to sleep dry. Of course, you again must set the stage that he will want to do this and to take more and more responsibility for himself.

Right Psychology

Such a program will rarely, if ever, work unless you provide the right psychology, right family relationships, right feelings and attitudes between him and you parents in general and in relation to his bed-wetting in particular.

While a few parents might well choose to start right away with the clock-help, most wiser ones will prefer a slower and more sure-of-emotional-success method. After assuring the child that they will never again shame, scold or punish him for wetting the bed and that they will protect him from embarrassment over the matter, having armored his bed with a rubber sheet, the father and mother will agree with each other to work on the problem at long range and be happy if they see some gains on occasional nights after several weeks or months.

Talk Together

These parents will often talk together over how this child may feel toward them and other members of the family and often persons he mingles with most often: over what worries and fears and anxieties he may have and how they might help reduce such in him. They will consider ways of helping him enjoy more achievements at work and play, feel more worthwhile as a person, especially in the family fun and conversation. These parents might decide to talk with a psychologist or psychiatrist or family counselor over these matters. Often we parents are too enmeshed emotionally to be able, without some expert help, to think objectively about such problems.

Many a time I have fumed and sweated in front of a public telephone booth while some kid seemed to have no conception of time or place.

Many a time I have wanted to shake the door of the booth and the kid inside, but I never did.

Because, when I looked at the gay and the blithe and the faraway and the very lovely expressions in the faces of those telephoning brats, I always came back to earth—or shall I say to dreamland—with a jolt.

"Old boy," I'd say to myself, "I'm afraid you are getting old."

"I'm afraid you have reached a point in life where business is more important than romance, where dollars precede dreams."

"Why don't you wait a few minutes?" I'd say to myself, "or go to another booth?"

"Let those youngsters have their fun. Youth is so short. Dreams fade so soon. Get the h— away from that booth."

"And I did. And I shall continue to do so."

Time and love don't go together, my friends.

I remember my first love affair, although it was many, many years ago.

I was about sixteen and she was somewhere around fourteen.

It was in Berlin, Germany, where I went to school at the time. Our favorite trysting place was a bench behind the monkey house in the Zoo. There we sat and sat and sat and dreamed until the keeper gently patted me on the shoulder and said: "Time to go. We now close up."

Home we went, without dinner, without supper, knowing our parents (who, then we thought, could never have been in love) gave us a good scolding and talked about time and other mundane things.

Then came other loves, some on which time was kept. They weren't so good. Others, timeless again, but so sweet as that first one had been in the monkey house.

And even now, my wife and I often sit up and chat and reminisce, or just sit together, until one or the other says:

"Come on, dear, let's go to bed. It's almost midnight."

"Isn't it awful the way time flies?"

No, love and time don't go together.

When a big rush job comes in, and most of their jobs are rushed, the women get to the office at 4 a. m. the first day and works until 5. Next day they start at 5 and work until 5. Next day, usually, the end, they start at 6 . . . The work is priced by the job. They do twice as much per hour as ordinary typists and work longer hours. In a long day they make $25 each.

Mine Shutdown
Of Over Two Weeks
Will Cause Worry

Magazine Iron Age Sees Lots Of Labor Headaches For Steel Companies

NEW YORK, March 17—(INS)—The magazine Iron Age said that while a two-week coal mine shutdown will not hurt the steel rate, a longer closing will cause worry in the industry.

It was observed that steel companies are in for a lot of labor headaches before the year is much farther along.

The national metal working weekly stressed that not only does the industry have to worry about demands from John L. Lewis, but it must be prepared for a stiff fight by the United Steelworkers union on social security and pensions.

Meantime, it predicted that first quarter earnings of steel companies are expected to be the biggest in the post-war period.

Iron Age based this forecast on better efficiency, lower scrap prices and a sustained high operating rate.

It noted also that there is no letdown in steel operations, with ingot output this week over 100 per cent for the eighth consecutive weekly period.

The weakness in scrap prices has continued unchecked, however, according to Iron Age.

Its steel scrap composite this week declined 67 cents a gross ton to $35.58, the lowest price since July, 1947.

War On Rats Starts In Center County

PHILLIPSBURG, Pa., March 17.—(INS)—Center county's second annual war on rats gets under way today.

One thousand pounds of rat poison will be distributed to farmers and other county residents in an all out effort to rid the area of rats.

The project, sponsored by the Center County G. I. Farm club, was started last year when thousands of rats were killed in a similar action.

The rat poison has been mixed in a concrete mixer and has been frozen to make it more effective.

Up to four pounds will be distributed to each farmer, and townsfolk will be limited to just about the amount they need. Strict care will be taken in placing the bait so that other animals besides rats will not be affected.

Two Garbage Trucks
Will Be Purchased

Safety Director Dick Davis reported today advertisements are being prepared which will call for two garbage trucks, which he reports are sadly needed.

He reports that seven trucks are now in use. He says the upkeep on the old trucks is staggering.

The trucks were placed in use in 1931, 1932, 1934, 1937, 1939, 1941 and the latest was placed in operation in 1947.

The two new trucks proposed will replace two old trucks, he states.

Donor Dinner
Plans Under Way

Event On Sunday, March 27, To Observe Birth Of Israel As Free State Of World

The Donor committee of the New Castle chapter of Hadassah is completing all plans for their annual dinner to be held at The Castleton hotel Sunday, March 27.

This Freedom Donor Dinner will mark the birth of Israel as a state.

Reverend John Staley Grauel, an active member of the American Christian Palestine committee, will be the guest speaker for the evening.

As a student-preacher, writer, world traveler and radio commentator Reverend Grauel has an unusual understanding of the problems that confront the world today. His educational background is that of military academy, university and religious seminary. As a man of religious training and education he has striven to preach brotherhood and humanitarianism to all of his audiences.

The program will also include Louis Dreeben from Uniontown, Pa. Mr. Dreeben is known throughout this area for his very beautiful rendition of Hebrew and Palestinian songs.

The Freedom Donor Dinner is climaxing the drive to obtain much needed funds for Israel. These funds will build the first hospital in the Negev (southland) a nonsectarian one, as well as a graduate school in Jerusalem for the training of doctors.

Reservations for the Freedom Dinner are in charge of Mrs. Julius Markley.

The Great Salt Lake in Utah is 75 miles long and 30 to 50 miles wide, and there are nine islands in the lake.

REPORT 10,351 PATIENTS

HARRISBURG, March 17.—(INS)—Dr. Mary L. Richardson, of Philadelphia, newly appointed rheumatic fever division chief, today said 10,351 patients were reported eligible for examination in the state rheumatic heart clinics.

A majority of cases reported were grade school pupils, with 4,251 coming from other sources, Dr. Richardson said.

"Many of the patients referred for examination do not have serious heart conditions and are given a clean bill of health by the clinics," she said.

The sapo is a fish which lives under water near the shore and is called a "singing fish" because of the peculiar humming noise that is made by its air bladder. It is found along the California coast.

Mayor O'Dwyer Scheduled To Testify Friday

Invited To Go Before New York
Grand Jury Investigating
Wire Tapping Plot

NEW YORK, March 17.—(INS)—Mayor William O'Dwyer himself was invited today to testify before the New York grand jury investigating the wire-tapping plot O'Dwyer says was aimed at discrediting his administration.

The mayor's appearance is scheduled for Friday, and the jury thus will have the stories of the two men shaping up as the main antagonists in the surprise-studded case—the other man being multimillionaire Clendenin J. Ryan.

Ryan heads a reform movement aimed at getting the O'Dwyer administration out of city hall on the ground it is dominated by gambler and ex-convict Frank Costello.

Mayor O'Dwyer has denounced Ryan as a "crackpot."

Costello also has flatly denied any connection or influence with city politics, and similarly has denied he knows anything about a nationwide slot machine racket he allegedly controls.

Ryan has testified before the grand jury several times this week and was called again Wednesday. He has stated repeatedly to newsmen that he knows nothing about the purported wire-tapping scheme in which the telephones of some 75 city officials allegedly were to be listened-in on.

Mayor O'Dwyer let loose a blast at civic reformers who, he claimed, are pulling every trick to "get power" for their own purposes.

More air express shipments are handled in one week at New York City now than were handled for the entire United States in 1932. In the year 1932, there were 26,000 shipments; for the average week in New York City, 1949, 35,000 shipments.

Almanac 'Facts' Called Erroneous

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(INS)—Two alleged "facts" in the 1949 edition of Information Please Almanac have been challenged by the Las Vegas Evening Review-Journal.

It notes that the almanac erroneously states that: (1) Hoover Dam (with Lake Mead behind it) is responsible for the states' agricultural crop of wheat, barley and potatoes; and (2) Nevada has only one city with a population between 10,000 and 25,000.

The newspaper bludgeons both statements. It says:

"(1) Not a drop of Lake Mead water irrigates Nevada crops, unless a lonely desert farmer is switching an occasional barrel for his private garden. Nevada's agricultural crop of approximately 46,000 acres of grain and a few potatoes is negligible anyway, considering the vastness of the state."

"(2) The almanac must still be using the 1940 census in referring to population of Nevada cities. Nevada has two cities with over 10,000 population—Reno with about 31,000, and Las Vegas with nearly 25,000."

Ghouls Sought By Police Of Seine

Fortune Of Jewels Stolen From Grave Of Woman Interred Over 39 Years Ago

MELUN, France—(INS)—Police of the Seine et Marne department are hunting for ghoulish thieves who broke into a grave and filched a fortune in jewels from the body of a woman buried 59 years ago.

Investigation showed the robbers even hacked off the fingers of the long-dead body to remove priceless diamond rings.

Authorities revealed that diamonds, emeralds and pearls worth millions of gold francs were stolen from the joint tomb of M. and Mme. de la Courtie.

Toward the end of the last century the couple in their wills expressed the wish to be buried in the deserted park of the Chateau de la Planche, not far from Melun in the Seine et Marne district southeast of Paris.

Buried In Lonely Park

M. de la Courtie was the first to die. He was buried in a special grave dug in the park. In 1890, a few years after her husband's death, Mme. de la Courtie followed him to the same burial vault.

Before dying she asked that all her jewels be placed on her body and buried with her. She also requested that bushes be allowed to grow freely around her tomb.

A few days ago a chemist, a friend of the new owner of the Chateau de la Planche, was hunting rabbits around the castle. He found that ghouls had broken into the grave.

LIKE SEA LIFE

NEW YORK.—(INS)—Nearly 80,000 men in the United States feel that a sailor's life is the life for them. The New York Journal of Commerce reports that many officers and seamen now are on active duty with the Merchant Marine.

The newspaper bludgeons both statements. It says:

"(1) Not a drop of Lake Mead water irrigates Nevada crops, unless a lonely desert farmer is switching an occasional barrel for his private garden. Nevada's agricultural crop of approximately 46,000 acres of grain and a few potatoes is negligible anyway, considering the vastness of the state."

"(2) The almanac must still be using the 1940 census in referring to population of Nevada cities. Nevada has two cities with over 10,000 population—Reno with about 31,000, and Las Vegas with nearly 25,000."

Hegesippus was the earliest Christian church historian, and is considered to have been a Jewish convert. It is estimated that he wrote his history about 156-167 A. D.

"Conditions are not right in our schools. I know that numbers have been sold in the Senior High school and I can get the names if necessary. We need religious instruction for children of broken homes. This plan is in vogue in such places as Brooklyn, Youngstown, Butler, and many other places. It has not caused embarrassment nor has it caused riots as has been suggested."

ED. NOTE: The charge of numbers selling in the high school was death with later in a conference with Principal Clare B. Book and appears in another article in today's News.

Votes Are Taken

Mrs. John E. Elliott appeared for the plan and said she thought it was a fine plan in essence. "No plan is perfect when it is first projected," said she, "but I believe this one deserves a trial."

Fred Allen, Jr., spoke briefly for the plan. Rev. J. Calvin Rose, pastor of Second U.P. church endorsed it.

When the regular order of business was called the motion of Director A. L. Hoffmaster to adopt the plan of released time for religious instruction of students in grades four and five was called up.

Upon the original motion the vote was "Yes." Dr. Flannery and Dr. Hoffmaster "No." Earle M. Brookover, William D. Cobau, A. C. Hyde, Dr. W. Fulton Jackson, Daniel B. Woolcock, Alec Samuels and Howard L. Reynolds. The motion was lost and the plans to grant released time for religious instruction defeated.

Court House Commissioners Uphold Assessor

Refuse To Lower 13 Assessments In Bessemer Upon Appeal By Taxpayers

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

After hearing appeals of 13 taxpayers of Bessemer for a reduction of their county assessments, the county commissioners refused to change the figures of the assessor, on Wednesday.

The argument over the Bessemer assessments has been on for some time. Assessor Mrs. Anna Kinkela came into the commissioners office and said she had raised a number of the assessments because she thought they were too low.

One of the appeals came from the owner of a two apartment building in Bessemer. The building, which contains ten rooms had been assessed at $1500. The assessor raised it to $2200.

The commissioners seemed to think that no injustice had been done and refused to alter the figures of Mrs. Kinkela.

Deny Strip Mines Interferred With

PITTSBURGH, March 17—(INS)—Reports that vacationing miners were interfering with strip operations today were denied by district officials of the United Mine Workers.

John P. Busareillo, president of UMW District Five, said that the diggers "were probably just adding a roadside chat." He added: "Miners going to visit somewhere see a few trucks hauling coal. They stop and question the drivers, kid them a little, and then drive on. I don't believe there is any actual picketing."

Operators of a small non-union strip mine at Logans Ferry near New Kensington, however, complained to the Allegheny county sheriff yesterday that pickets had forced the closing of their mine.

Lewis Denies He Violates Contract

PHILADELPHIA, March 17—(INS)—John L. Lewis was disclosed today to have rejected charges that his two-week memorial work stoppage violates the United Mine Workers pact with hard coal owners.

Ralph E. Taggart, president of the Reading Coal and Iron Co., said the UMW leader turned down a demand that he rescind the walkout.

The demand was made upon Lewis by Taggart, chairman of the anthracite operators conference. He said the union president justified the walkout under the "able and willing" contract clause.

Taggart quoted Lewis as re-

"The able and willing clause when negotiated was intended to make the mine worker and his organization free like other Americans, to cease work when they are not able and willing."

VITAMINS MAKE DIESELS

Aren't those big Diesel locomotives wonderful? They glide into the station like a cloud. There is no fuss nor noise; just power.

Men make Diesels. If men did not have vitamins they could not make them, so perhaps we can say that it takes vitamins to make Diesel engines.

HARRISBURG, March 17.—(INS)—The Mutual Broadcasting System has offered the facilities of its 500-station network to Jacob Lomakin, former Soviet consul general in New York, to support his remarks that the United States maintains the "worst press censorship in the world".

A. Schechter, Mutual vice president, sent a cablegram to Lomakin in Moscow stating:

"In view of your remarks that the United States maintains the world's worst news censorship, the Mutual Broadcasting System will make available to you its nationwide facilities of 500 stations in order that you may either debate or discuss that subject by shortwave with American newsmen in this country."

"Your earliest reply would be appreciated."

Lomakin's remarks were made at Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky's reception in honor of a visiting north Korean delegation.

Approximately 276,000,000 eggs were counted during last month, an increase of 12,000,000 over the same month a year ago, the department said.

Prices Decline

Last month's production was 3,000,000 eggs under the 1946 record.

Prices of live chickens and turkeys declined during the month ended February 15 but decreases in feed costs more than offset the dip, according to the department.

Temperatures in February were above normal for the fourth straight month contributing to the high milk and egg yield as well as to economical maintenance of livestock and poultry.

PAYMENTS TO JOBLESS

Local Dealers Will Show 1949 Plymouth In City On Friday

Chambers Motor Co., Morgan Motor Co. and J. R. Rick Co. To Display Models

Plymouth offers one of the most outstanding car values in the low priced 1949 line of cars which will go on display in three showrooms of dealers in the city on Friday. First looks of the new redesigned and streamlined car may be had at the showrooms of Morgan Motor company, 217 North Jefferson street; Chambers Motor company, 125 West Grant street, and the J. R. Rick Motor company, 470 East Washington street, all authorized Plymouth dealers.

Using "common sense" in their streamlining of the 1949 Plymouth, designers have turned their skills toward ease of handling, safety and comfort which was foremost in their minds as they planned this fine new motor car. Inside and out, the new Plymouth has been transformed so as to provide "everything that is wanted" in the lower priced cars.

Nine distinct automobiles are included in the 1949 Plymouth line, consisting of four special deluxe and two deluxe types on a 118-inch wheelbase and three deluxe models on a 111-inch wheelbase. A new designed cylinder head increases the compression ratio seven to one. Both driver and passenger comfort have been included in the new creations with innovations included for both.

Plymouth's electrical and lighting system has been vastly improved, with headlights equipped with a bulls-eye lens in the center of the sealed beam lens to provide increased light output. Plastic lenses have been installed on stop, tail and parking lights. An addition of a 10,000 ohm suppressor permits the use of a larger initial spark plug gap resulting in improved idling, and low speed, light load performance.

Before trackless trolleys and motor buses arrived on the scene, some cities had trolley mail cars; others had milk cars, and still others had sprinkler cars for street sanitation. One city had an electric funeral coach.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

A Prior Question

At one time or another, every parent is concerned about changing the behavior of a child. Perhaps it is whining that's troublesome. Bed-wetting, thumb-sucking, teasing or hitting other children, lying, and running away are other examples of the many problems that may come up.

Usually the first question that comes to mind is: "How can I stop this kind of behavior?" This is natural enough, but unfortunately it tends to push us to deal with symptoms rather than causes. For instance, thumb-sucking is attacked by using devices to make it impossible for the child to get his thumb in his mouth, running away from home by tying him up or locking him in.

A prior question is important. If we seek an answer to the query: "Why does he do this?" we are much more likely to come up with an effective way of dealing with the underlying problem. Thumb-sucking may occur because the child doesn't have enough companions or activities to keep him busily interested. It may be due to lack of enough parental affection. Running away is often due to similar lacks in companionship and activity.

So, if you are concerned about your youngster's behavior and feel that something needs to be done, concern yourself first of all with possible causes, not methods of overcoming the difficulty.

Coal Mine Strike
Called Foul Blow
Against Country

Senator Martin Denounces Action
Of John L. Lewis In Calling
Miners Out For Two Weeks

WASHINGTON, March 17—(INS)—Sen. Martin (R) Pa., on Wednesday denounced as "a foul blow against the country" the two-week coal mine shutdown ordered by John L. Lewis in protest of James Boyd's nomination as Mines Bureau chief.

Martin said that as a result of Martin's action he has decided for Boyd's confirmation in the federal post. The Senator added:

"I will never be browbeaten or influenced by such methods as John L. Lewis has resorted to... it is a precedent that invites pure anarchy."

"Under the Lewis formula, if large corporations should dislike the amount of taxes imposed by Congress, they could simply shut their gates and turn thousands out of employment."

Doubtful Until Strike

Martin said that up to the time Lewis ordered the two-week shutdown he was doubtful whether he would vote for Boyd, since he felt that the appointment should have gone to Pennsylvania, an important coal state.

But he added:

"These doubts were resolved when Lewis sought to intimidate the United States Senate and to coerce it into rejecting Boyd's nomination."

The Senate interior and public lands committee has recommended confirmation of Boyd.

Martin pointed out that the Federal Bureau of Mines devotes only 15 percent of its time and funds to coal mines activities, with the remaining 85 percent involving petroleum, iron ore, copper, bauxite, synthetic fuels, and uranium.

The senator observed:

"All of this Lewis wants to control by dictating who shall head the bureau. He has done his miners and the entire American labor movement a great disservice. He has struck a foul blow against the country. But he will not win this fight."

'Cancer Clinic'

Operators Guilty

PITTSBURGH, March 17—(INS)—Attorneys for Philip Drosnes, found guilty of practicing medicine without a license, today indicated they would file a motion for a new trial.

The pair was convicted yesterday of practicing medicine in a "cancer clinic" which they operated in Pittsburgh until closed by authorities last summer.

Judge Henry X. O'Brien postponed sentencing pending filing of the appeal for a new trial. Maximum penalty for the violation is $500 fine or six months in jail or both.

46 LICENSES REVOKED

HARRISBURG.—In the week ending March 4, the Bureau of Highway Safety withdrew the cards of 800 drivers. Of this number 46 were revoked and 754 suspended. Operating privileges were restored to 659.

MARSHALL, Mich., March 17—(INS)—Five persons, including a Flint, Mich., family of four, were killed Wednesday in a truck collision, seven miles north of Marshall, Mich.

Police said the victims were riding in a panel truck which crashed into a semi-trailer.

Police identified the victims as 21-year-old Bruce Shoultz of Flint, his wife, 23; and their two children, Pamela, 3, and one-year-old Danny and Shoultz' brother-in-law Leonard Cross, 31.

The victims were returning from Wisconsin to their Flint homes.

Dan Bent, driver of the semi-trailer, was unhurt. Bent told police Shoultz must have fallen asleep at the wheel.

"He was coming toward me and suddenly swerved across the road directly in my path," Bent added. "I didn't have a chance to get out of the way."

The semi-trailer, used for hauling livestock, was returning to Eureka, Ill.

TOKYO, March 17.—(INS)—Janpan's imperial household has indignantly denied a magazine story which alleges, among other things, that Emperor Hirohito gets in the tub wearing a white silk bathrobe.

An article appearing in the monthly "Yomimono Shunju" declared that Hirohito never takes a bath in complete nudity. After he has entered the tub wearing the

the bathrobe a court lady pours hot water down his back, the articole said.

Household officials didn't say how the emperor does take a bath

but it was assumed he does it like every other Japanese—soaping up and rinsing off outside the tub, then getting into the steaming hot water to soak.

The imperial household rejected the entire article as "a piece of fiction based on hearsay and ancient stories which used to be circulated in Japan."

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Frank McKenzie, now a successful attorney in Missouri, commanded a regiment in World War II that was moved up to a position not 300 yards from the Nazi lines. "We are in a very exposed spot here," McKenzie warned his men. "The pass-word for tonight is 'Bill Dickey'. If anybody comes near a sentry and can't give that password instantly, shoot to kill."

That evening McKenzie went prowling to see if his sentries were on the job. One of his bravest, but not brightest, sentries heard him coming, and aimed a gun at his head. "Halt, you blank, blank, blank," whispered the sentry hoarsely, "and say 'Bill Dickey'."

A gentleman from Norfolk journeyed up to Amherst to pay a surprise visit of his son. Poking his head cautiously into his son's fraternity house, he asked, "Does John Calhoun live here?" "Yes," said a resigned voice from within. "Just lay him on the couch." Copyright, 1949, by Bennett Cerf. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

New Beauty

Now there's more difference than ever in low-priced cars . . . and the great New Plymouth makes the difference!

New Vision

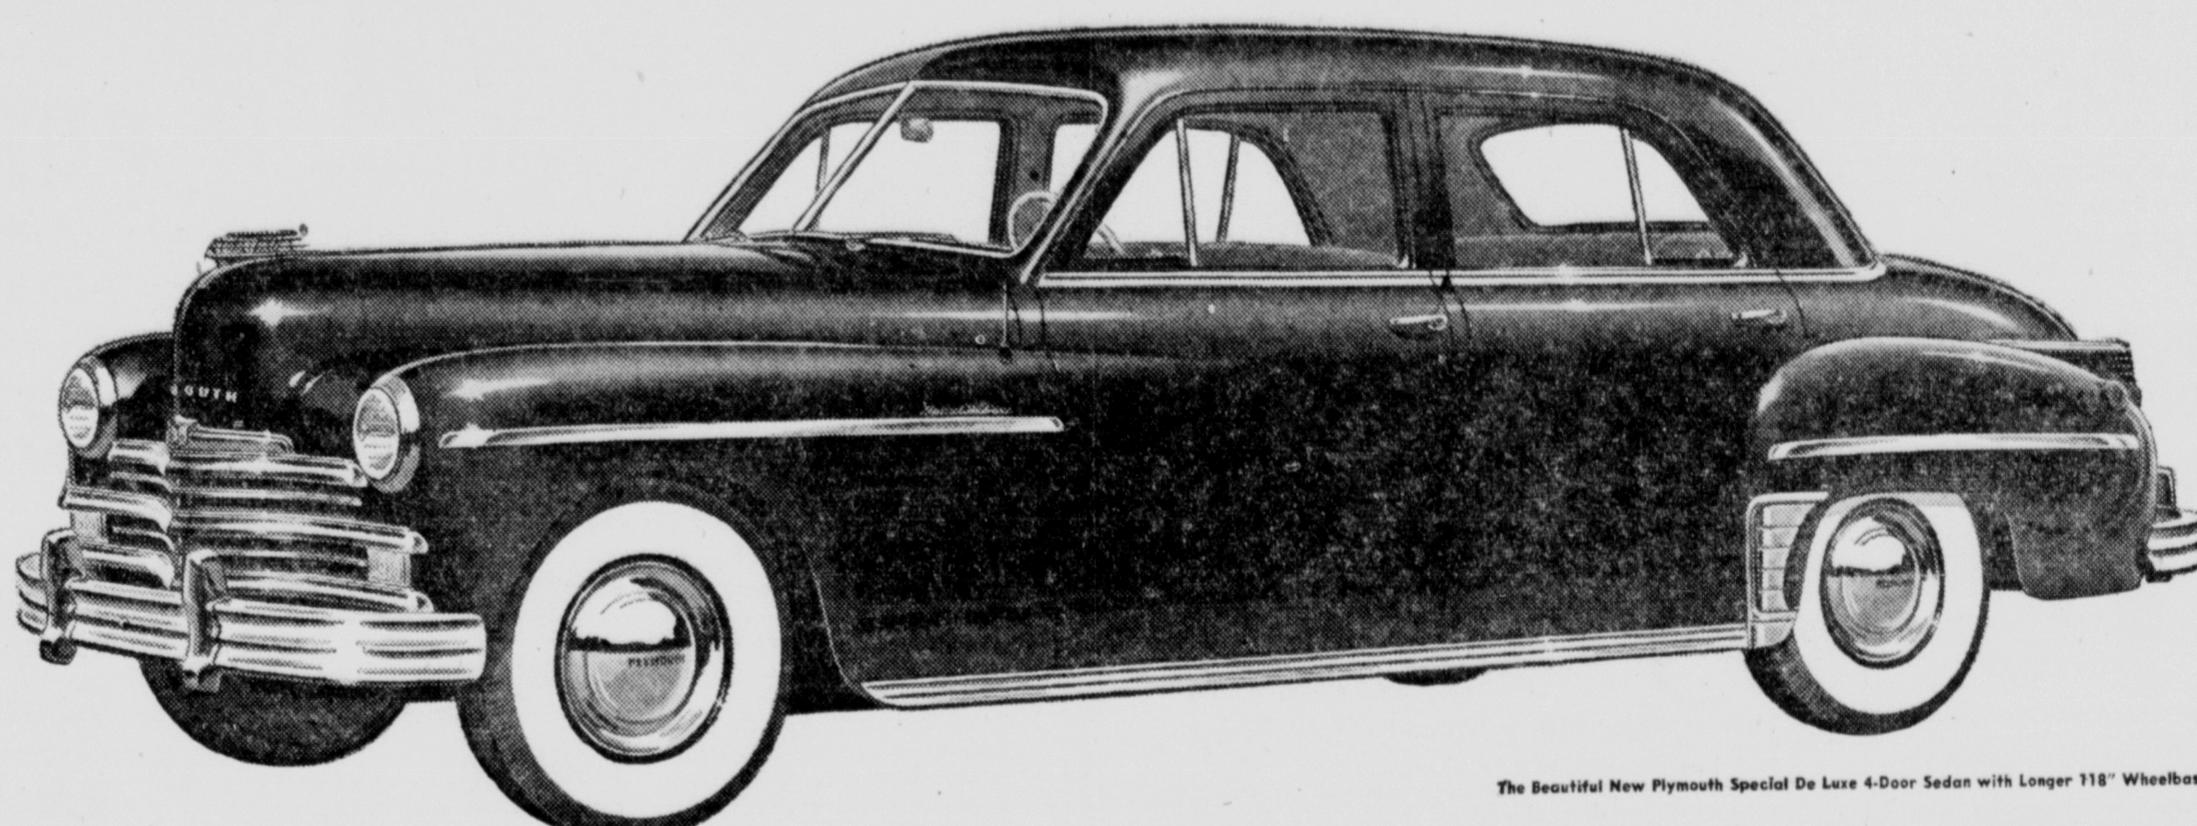

The greatly increased glass area is exactly where you need it—in the windshield and rear window. And the new design of the hood and the entire body gives the driver a clear, undistorted view of the road—in all directions—day or night—rain or shine! Blind spots are practically eliminated.

New Features

You just turn the ignition key and the engine starts! No buttons to push, no choke to pull. You save on oil and get longer engine life with new oil control piston rings and the brand-new chrome compression ring. These are just two of the great new features in the great New Plymouth.

New Comfort

Talk about room for comfort—the New Plymouth has it! Those famous chair-height seats are now even wider, and deeper from front to back. Long legs can stretch out and hats stay put. Diagonally mounted rear shock absorbers reduce sidesway. You drive for hours without fatigue.

The Beautiful New Plymouth Special De Luxe 4-Door Sedan with Longer 118" Wheelbase

New Safety

New Convenience

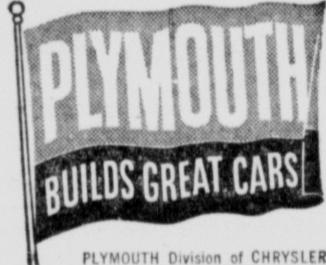

Safety has always been first with Plymouth—and this new car is safer than ever! It has a lower center of gravity. It hugs the road better. A completely new body construction makes it a sturdier automobile. Body and frame are 23% more rigid. You drive with a great new sense of security.

New Performance

Because of less overhang, the New Plymouth is easy to park, easy to put in the garage. Fenders flow into the body but they're separate and detachable—and it doesn't cost a fortune to repair them! Windows lift and lower easier. Doors open wide—you get in and out of this car with ease!

Greatest New Value

The only way to discover all of the great new things in the great New Plymouth is to see it—to sit in it—to drive it. Do this and you'll be convinced that—feature for feature—dollar for dollar—here's the greatest value of all! Compare it to any car at any price. See it NOW!

INTRODUCING DAUGHTER-IN-LAW TO FRIENDS

"I have a new daughter-in-law and would like to know just how to introduce her to my friends. She is an out-of-town girl and therefore a stranger to all of my friends and neighbors."

Answer: Why not give a luncheon and bridge and invite those of your neighbors and friends whom you would like to meet your new daughter-in-law?

She is fond of bridge and meets in this way your acquaintances who are likewise fond of the game, she will immediately make contacts which will probably help to make her enjoy her new life. Bridge players always welcome with open arms any one who shares their enthusiasm for this modern pastime.

Should she have no interest in bridge, give in her home an afternoon tea or an evening party, inviting men as well as women.

Any of these functions would be a very pleasant and proper means of presenting your daughter-in-law to your friends and of giving her an opportunity to receive invitations from them.

Question: (1) Is one supposed to take every course in a table d'hôte dinner? (2) Should the waiter or the man accompanying her seat a woman and help her with her wraps?

Answer: (1) You may omit any course that you do not wish to eat. (2) Either may do so. Usually if the waiter or headwaiter is at the table, he takes care of her.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Third Red Cross Report Friday

Two Groups Have Already Reached Quotas, More Expected At Friday Meeting

Results of the first three weeks of the annual Red Cross drive for funds will be reported Friday afternoon.

Campaign Chairman Harry Helwick today urged all division captains to be at the chapter house at 4 o'clock and to bring in as complete report as possible.

A total of $14,317 was the amount reported at the last meeting. This represents slightly more than one-half of the goal of $27,560 and it is anticipated that the Friday meeting will push the total close to the top.

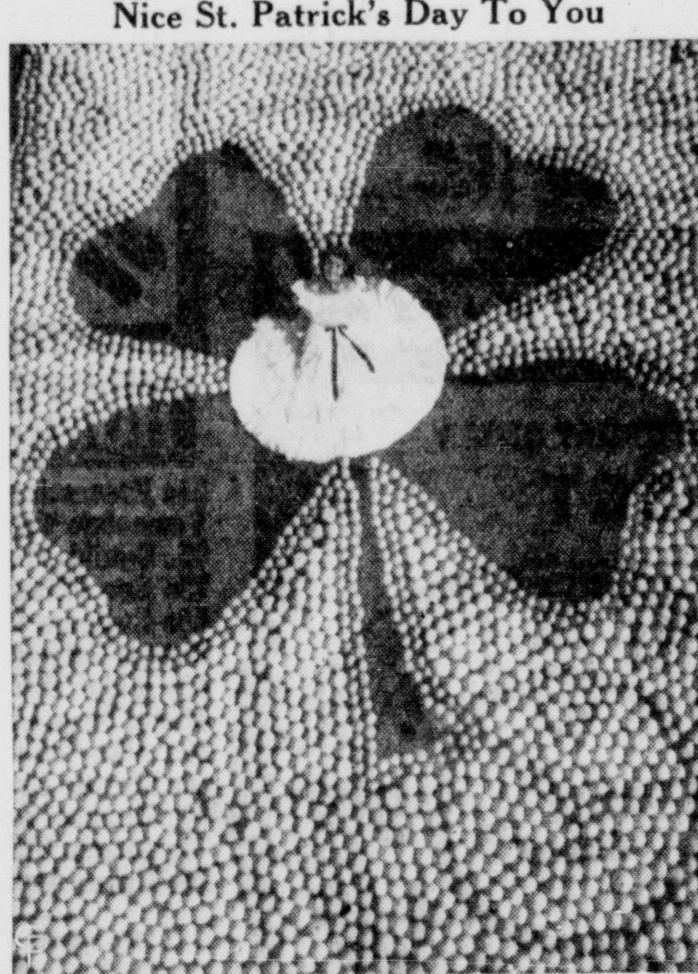

The professional division, headed by Dr. James Crawford, and the special groups led by Alec Samuels, have already exceeded their quotas. Other divisions experienced a slight delay in the early stages of the drive but are expected to come through with a good return Friday.

VITAMIN B-12

A remarkable life-saving substance was discovered not long ago which promises to become a landmark in the battle of mankind against disease. Known as Vitamin B-12, it is extracted from liver and is probably the most potent biological substance known.

Less than a billionth of an ounce will arrest pernicious anemia, a disease manifested by decrease in number and increase in size of the red blood cells. Pernicious anemia is confined largely to the middle-aged. Twenty-five years ago it invariably was fatal. Today, however, it can be kept under control with Vitamin B-12, which is several thousand times more potent than the best liver extracts obtainable.

Always see your physician. If you require Vitamin B-12, he will give you the proper prescription.

New Indictment Is Now Faced By Judith Coplon

NEW YORK, March 17.—(INS)—Judith Coplon, 27-year-old Barnard graduate at liberty under $20,000 bail on one espionage charge, today faced rearrest by the FBI following her second indictment by a District of Columbia grand jury.

In a surprise action yesterday the Washington jury charged Miss Coplon with stealing confidential data from files of the Department of Justice where she worked as a confidential aide. The indictment charges she subsequently turned over these data to Valentin A. Gubitzhev, Soviet citizen-engineer on the U.N. staff.

Gubitzhev and Miss Coplon have both been indicted in New York and are scheduled for trial on April 1 on an espionage conspiracy charge. Gubitzhev is still in the Federal house of detention in lieu of $100,000 bail.

Miss Victoria Gizzi was appointed secretary of the youth group of Epworth Methodist church Wednesday evening by the president, Mrs. Russell Rhodes. Following the executive board meeting, Mrs. Rhodes introduced the Gospel team from Westminster college who had charge of the Lenten service and prayer meeting. The main speaker was from India, where he had spent most of his life.

Mrs. J. M. Edwards, sponsor of the Maxwell-Reynolds Circle, was presented by the president, Miss Dorothy Deep, in behalf of the circle a pin and life membership certificate from the circle. Mrs. Edwards spoke fittingly as to the joy and pleasure it had been to work with the circle and thanked them for the lovely gift.

Concluding the meeting, Mrs. Rhodes thanked the Gospel team for the fine program, wishing them success in the future. The next meeting will be conducted on April 20.

Engineers Will Entertain Ladies

Plan Bus Trip To Shrine Stag Party

Program For Monday Evening's Dinner Will Be Shared With Women Folks

It was announced today by President Jack Boyles, of the Mahoning and Shenango Valley Engineers Society, that Monday evening will be observed as Ladies Night, and the women folks will be special guests at the dinner meeting in The Castleton, at 7 o'clock.

The program of the evening will be particularly interesting to the ladies, dealing as it does with new ideas and developments in lighting and lamps.

The speaker C. M. Crysler, who is district lighting engineer of the General Electric Company, is a former member of the Mahoning and Shenango society, and is a graduate of Syracuse University. He has had a wide experience in the lighting field and presents a most interesting program. In connection with his talk, Monday, he will show two films which will also be interesting. The one is "Magic of Fluorescence," and the other is entitled, "The Green House."

Reservations for the dinner should be made with Charles Goodman of the Pennsylvania Power Company, by 1:30 p.m., Friday.

East Side W. C. T. U.

The members of the East Side W. C. T. U. met Monday evening, March 14, at 7:45 in the home of Mrs. Bert Hughes, 1013 Beckford street for their regular monthly meeting.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Scott Munnel. The devotions were under the direction of Mrs. Ida Howe, the Spiritual Life Director. After singing two numbers by the group with Mrs. Hughes at the piano, the scripture was read by Mrs. Howe, followed by prayer. An interesting story was given by Mrs. Howe and an article "The Ferns of Life" was read by Mrs. Floyd Smock.

In mythology, Flora was the goddess of flowers and gardens, wife of Zephyrus. She enjoyed perpetual youth.

FLAKO LEADS ALL PIE CRUST MIXES

Proven For 27 Years,
And Widely Copied,
Flako Is Largest Seller

Many pie crust mixes are on the market today and many claims are made about them, but according to housewives' preferences, as determined by what they actually buy, there is no pie crust mix like Flako.

Flako is America's largest selling pie crust mix. It has been preferred for 27 years by more housewives than any other similar product.

No other pie crust mix has stood the test of pleasing so many housewives for so long. Flako is time-proven; value-proven; oven-proven; and flavor-proven. It is the most widely imitated pie crust mix in America—the mix they all try to copy. But there still is no substitute for Flako.

After the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Manley Bates. The group adjourned to meet in April at the Almira Home with Mrs. Paul Graham as the leader.

Slippery Rock

The Slippery Rock W. C. T. U. held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Cochran of Princeton last Thursday evening. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. A. McClymonds. Mrs. J. L. Avers was leader of the devotional period.

Rev. C. W. Cochran led in prayer. Rev. J. L. Avers gave a talk, his subject, "Liquor Ads." Mrs. Melville Martin, Spiritual Life director, read the 1st Psalm and gave her talk from that. The next meeting will be the Institute to be held at Liberty Grange hall. The Slippery Rock Union will be hostess. Reports were given by the Silver Teas.

EDENBURG NOTES

Nicholas Antico, accused of murdering a 73-year-old man who allegedly molested his young daughter, today based his defense on a claim that his mind went blank at the time of the shooting.

The 37-year-old Sharpsburg bartender will testify that he could remember nothing about the slaying of William Moore.

State Authority
Program To Be Given Approval

HARRISBURG, March 17.—(INS)—The administration's double-pronged $215,000,000 state building authority program to carry out immediately needed long-term improvements was marked for approval today by the State Senate.

The two House-approved measures, creating a general State authority and a State highway and bridge authority, were the major order of business on the Senate calendar. They carry the endorsement of Republicans and Democrats alike. The general State authority bill was amended by the Senate to limit bonds to $175,000,000 and the House must concur in the change.

The House is slated to pass finally and send to the Senate three administration-sponsored measures granting increased benefits to recipients of unemployment, workers' and occupational disease compensation. The three bills are slated for unanimous approval of the House membership.

Defense Head To

Defense Secretary's Powers
Will Be Upped By Con-

OTHER NEWS OF NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Congress is almost certain to pass legislation to strengthen the unification of the Armed Services, and this legislation probably will call for a considerable increase in the powers of the defense secretary.

The purpose will be to make the secretary head of the armed forces in reality, and not merely a figure-head as he is under the present law, with the secretaries of the army, navy and air force wielding more actual authority than the chief.

However, congress probably will not go as far as the Hoover Commission recommended in its report on organization of the military establishment.

The commission proposed that the defense secretary be made a super-boss, with power to use disciplinary action to end service rivalries, especially the feud between the navy and air force. The group would demote the service secretaries to undersecretaries.

Congress is intended to create the office of undersecretary of defense and otherwise enlarge the staff of the defense secretary. However, indications point only to a partial acceptance of the Hoover Commission recommendation.

PROPAGANDA WAR

Secretary of State Dean Acheson is determined to continue holding his weekly news conferences at 11 a.m. EST, despite pressure from morning newspapers to alternate between morning and afternoon as does President Truman.

The reason is that if Acheson makes a statement after 11 a.m. or after noon Washington, Radio Moscow can beam distorted versions to Europe before the correct American versions can get there. This is especially true of the satellite countries.

However, the morning statements reach overseas shortwave, and penetrate behind the "iron curtain" before Moscow can act.

This same morning rule is regarded as pretty likely to apply to all major policy statements for the time being.

The propaganda war, in which the United States indulges with reluctance, has brought about the fierce competition of news gathering in the free democracies.

TAFT TO THE FORE

Republican Senate policy leader Robert A. Taft of Ohio, is moving ahead in his drive to capture actual party leadership and another crack at the GOP presidential nomination in 1952.

Taft concededly has gained ground during the hearings on repeal of the Taft-Hartley law. He has won the praise of such pro-Dewey Republicans as Oregon's Senator Wayne Morse.

ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY
The St. Lawrence Seaway has the best chance of passage in the 81st congress that its sponsors have thus far seen.

Giving the project a boost is the Canadian ore development, coupled with the fact that Minnesota iron mines are dwindling in supply.

The need of a new iron ore source is bringing fresh support to the St. Lawrence project from the steel-fabricating states, particularly Ohio.

Another factor which may figure in the 81st congress is the loss by Seaway project opponents Senator John H. Overton (D) Louisiana, who recently died. Overton was a veteran in the senate, holding high-ranking committee posts.

DEFENSE PROPERTY VALUE

Have you ever wondered how much the army, navy and air force was worth in hard cash? Charles R. Hook, chairman of an advisory commission, created to work out a new pay scale for the military forces, estimates about 75 billion dollars.

Principal Book
Of High School
Before BoardCourses Offered To Students Explained To School Board
Last Night

Principal Clare B. Book of the senior high school was before the school board Wednesday night.

He had been asked to appear before the board to furnish some information upon the make up of courses offered to the students.

The invitation came as the result of some investigation of the Educational Advancement Committee of the board. Dr. Wilbur E. Flannery is the chairman of the committee.

Experimental Work

Dr. Flannery asked why the former plan of setting out specific courses such as Academic, Technical, Commercial and General had been abandoned.

Mr. Book replied that the present plan was to permit the students and their parents, after consultation with the Guidance Director, to select studies they thought necessary.

Asked if this did not make it that students could graduate with credits from "snap" courses, Mr. Book replied that it did not that there were certain required subjects the student must pass.

Mr. Book said it was an experiment to which the board members said they wanted to be informed in the future when experiments are to be tried out.

Mr. Book was then asked about the charge of James Snow that numbers had been sold in the high school.

"This was true some time ago," said Mr. Book. "We found it out and investigated but the boy charged with selling the numbers had disposed of his slips. I believe nothing of the sort is going on now."

Scranton Times
Demands Lewis
Call Off Strike

SCRANTON, Pa., March 17.—(INS)—The Scranton Times, largest newspaper in Pennsylvania's anthracite region, today demanded that John L. Lewis call off the two-week mine tieup.

The newspaper labeled the mine holiday called by the United Mine Workers president a "mistake" and urged Lewis to "fully recognize his error and order immediate resumption of work."

In a page one editorial, the newspaper said:

"The memorial has lasted long enough, too long, in fact. Mine workers are suffering. The complete stoppage coming after three months or so of short work weeks, has dented the pockets of workers and has left the cupboards bare of many of the necessities of life.

"Thousands of railroad workers are laid off. Householders are inconvenienced through difficulty in getting coal."

The newspaper told Lewis that the public and miners are out of sympathy with the strike.

Predict Allies Will Nullify Soviet Currency

New Move Is Expected In Wake Of Rejection Of Berlin Compromise

LONDON, March 17.—(INS)—British diplomatic circles predicted today that the Allies will shortly nullify Soviet currency as a medium of exchange in western Berlin.

Some sources predicted that the move will come before the week's end. All agreed that it will follow swiftly in the wake of the Allied rejection yesterday of United Nation's compromise proposals on the Berlin currency problem.

The London Daily Express forecast that a sweeping reform of west sector currency in Berlin will come simultaneously with the expulsion of the Soviet mark. Meanwhile, the foreign office explained that the U.N. "neutral" compromise proposals were rejected "because of the ever-sharpening political divisions in the city encouraged and approved by Soviet authorities."

Full Measure' Bill Presented

HARRISBURG, March 17.—(INS)—Over-the-bar drinkers would be guaranteed of a "full measure" if a bill before the House is enacted into law.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Charles C. Smith, (R) Philadelphia, would require all hard liquor to be dispensed in graduated glasses marked off in ounces, for drinks consumed on the premises of licensed taprooms.

Woman Missionary Slain In Korea

Mrs. Ethel Underwood, Missionary For 25 Years, Slain By Two Masked Killers

SEOUL, March 17.—(INS)—Mrs. Ethel Underwood, a Presbyterian missionary in Korea for 25 years, was shot and killed in her Seoul home today by two masked assassins in what authorities described as a political slaying.

The killers fired two shots, one of which perforated Mrs. Underwood's liver and caused immediate death. The gunmen opened fire as the woman missionary opened the front door of her home in response to the doorbell.

The unidentified slayers escaped.

The killing occurred while Mrs. Underwood and her husband were giving a tea party. The husband, Horace Underwood, is a teacher at Chosen (Korean) university.

Officials said they believed the motive for the "assassination" was political since no robbery was involved and Mrs. Underwood was known to sympathize with the conservative cause in Korea.

Communist Forces Nearing Yangtze

LONDON, March 17.—(INS)—Reuters quoted a Chinese Nationalist army spokesman today as saying that Communist artillery units, comprising 100,000 men, are moving southward toward the Yangtze river.

The news agency, in a Nanking dispatch quoted the official to the effect that the Reds were equipped with American and Japanese heavy guns.

Police Continuing Search For Killer

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—(INS)—Police today pressed their search for the killer of two state liquor store employees after a survivor of Saturday's shooting failed positively to identify a "red-hot" suspect.

Fielder Jackson, 28, confronted the suspect, identified as Clarence Gant, 32, Negro, who was brought to Pennsylvania hospital shackled to two other men.

Hold 24 Men

Later, Assistant Police Superintendent George F. Richardson reported that Jackson was not positive and was still "a little hazy" from his wounds. He was shot in the chest by the bandit.

Richardson said Gant would be taken back to the hospital for a further test "on another day."

Police are holding 24 men picked up in a house-to-house search following the killing of Herman Weintraub, 38, and Howard Robinson, 57, in the $99 state store holdup.

Danville, Va., Has Damaging Fire

DANVILLE, Va., March 17.—(INS)—Fire destroyed a huge building housing a tobacco warehouse and eight stores in downtown Danville Wednesday, and for a time threatened the city hall and other adjacent structures.

One fireman, Earl Powell, suffered a broken leg in battling the flames and the intense smoke repulsed his comrades several times before the estimated $200-thousand blaze was brought under control.

Police Lieut. J. C. Lewis said the fire was touched off when an oil heating stove in a furniture shop on the ground floor of the half-block long building exploded.

Prisoners in the state-city jail, within 30 feet of the blazing structure, were herded from their cells and held under guard some distance away when the towering flames threatened the building.

Firemen said the city hall and other adjacent buildings were spared only by the collapse of the burning warehouse which tended to smother the high flames.

RELIEF ROLL INCREASES

HARRISBURG—Pennsylvania's general assistance rolls increased by 831 persons during the last week in February. This was the smallest weekly increase recorded since the beginning of the year, and compares favorably with an increase of 2,377 persons only two weeks ago, and with an average weekly increase of 1,482 persons since the beginning of the year.

Losses from borer damage last year in Pennsylvania are conservatively estimated at $2,000,000 according to Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of Bureau of Plant Industry in the State Department of Agriculture. In 1947, when corn prices were higher, the loss was set at $2,500,000. In each year damage to sweet corn alone was estimated at half a million dollars.

Damage by corn borers last year in the United States resulted in loss of 85 million bushels of corn valued at $103,000,000. Dr. Guyton reported. Losses in Iowa were estimated at nearly $46,000,000; Illinois, $26,000,000; Minnesota, $8,000,000; Indiana, $7,000,000 and Ohio, $5,000,000.

In 1947, Lawrence County averaged 22 corn borers for each 100 plants while in 1948, the survey revealed that 13 existed for each 100 plants examined. Adherence to measures suggested by the Department of Agriculture is responsible for the decline.

Five Hungarian Delegates Will Not Be Admitted

But 23 Citizens Of 'Iron Curtain' Countries Will Be Admitted To Conference In U.S.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—(INS)—The state department on Wednesday authorized 23 citizens of "iron curtain" countries to attend the cultural and scientific conference for world peace in New York, March 25.

However, the department indicated it would refuse entry permits for five Hungarian delegates in retaliation against treatment of American diplomats in Budapest. Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen announced that the cases of two Venezuelans seeking to attend the conference are under consideration. The principal point at issue is whether the two are Communists.

Those Authorized

Soviet and satellite-state delegates whose entry was authorized include seven Russians, two Romanians, five Czechs, our Poles, and five Yugoslavs.

One of the Russians is Dimitri Shostakovich, renowned composer recently disciplined by Soviet authorities for exhibiting a "Bourgeois" trend in his musical work. Shostakovich publicly repented and is again in good standing with Soviet music commissars.

Under "No Illusions"

The state department in announcing its decision to admit the eastern European group said it had "no illusions as to the manner in which the Communist will attempt to use and manipulate" the conference.

The announcement contrasted the courtesy being extended by the United States with the attitude prevailing in Russia and the nations under Soviet domination. The official statement added:

"The government of the United States has approved the issuance of these visas because of its unwavering devotion to freedom of information and free speech on any issue, however controversial it may be."

State Report Shows That County

Has Nine Less Borers Per Hundred Plants In '48

HARRISBURG—Destruction of valuable corn crops by the European corn borer in Pennsylvania is heaviest where the so-called double brood borer has been active for more than six years in most corn growing areas.

Losses from borer damage last year in Pennsylvania are conservatively estimated at $2,000,000 according to Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of Bureau of Plant Industry in the State Department of Agriculture. In 1947, when corn prices were higher, the loss was set at $2,500,000. Board Fails To Elect Principal

Numerous Ballots Taken Without Names Successor
To W. A. Hoffmaster

Nine ballots failed to elect a principal for Croton and North Street schools Wednesday night at the meeting of the school board.

The board endeavored to elect a principal to replace W. A. Hoffmaster who will retire at the end of the school year.

Twelve teachers had made application for the position and before balloting, Superintendent Frank L. Burton gave the board an idea of the abilities of each of the applicants.

Nominations Made

Nominations of several of the candidates were made when director Alec Samuels suggested the board members vote their choices in order to see what candidates had a chance.

This was done.

It was decided to take the four high candidates and attempt to get a principal from this group.

The first ballot showed William R.

Schmidt, Rees Flannery, William J. Wallace and Alfred F. Barnes high.

On the second and third ballot Wallace, Schmidt and Flannery each had three votes.

It was then decided to have each member write his preference in the order as he saw the candidate. First place counted three, second place two and third place one. A total would be made of the points and the low man dropped.

On the fourth ballot, William R. Schmidt had 19 votes, Rees Flannery 18 and William J. Wallace 17. Wallace's name was then dropped.

Majority Not Enough

The board was then informed by Solicitor Robert L. Wallace that in order to select Mr. Flannery it would be necessary for him to poll three quarters of the vote, or a total of seven. This because he is a relative of Dr. Wilbur E. Flannery a board member. Under the law a relative of a board member can be elected only with a three-fourths vote.

On the fifth ballot, Flannery had 5 and Schmidt 4. On the sixth and seventh the vote was the same. On the eighth ballot Flannery had six votes and Schmidt 3.

On the ninth ballot Flannery had five and Schmidt four. By this time it was nearing one o'clock and the board decided to lay the matter over until the special meeting on March 23.

School Directors In Long Session

Many Matters Before Board At Monthly Meeting Wednesday Night

If school directors got overtime for long hours, the New Castle board rated it Wednesday night.

The meeting opened sharply at seven-thirty and at one fifteen the meeting adjourned to meet again March 23. Several pieces of business were laid over because of the lateness of the hour.

Superintendent Frank L. Burton informed the board thirty Westminster students, and one Youngstown College student were in the New Castle schools during their practice teaching.

A report was received from Dr. George Murphy of Penn State, who headed a reading clinic in the system for a week. He also made a number of recommendations.

Bills for materials and services were approved in the total of $13,164.81. Athletic bills in the total of $149.13 were approved.

Four women of the seventh ward appeared before the board and asked if the budget for the coming year contained money to repair and improve the toilet system in the Mahoning school. They were told it did.

Girl Scouts Will Go To Grange Supper

After school sessions at Mt. Jackson high school Girl Scout troop No. 30 met on Wednesday afternoon.

The opening exercises were in charge of the Busy Beavers patrol. The Bible thought of the day was read by Janet Davis. There was the pledge to the flag, "Girl Scout promise" and singing of "America the Beautiful" by the group, led by Ruth McKissick.

Following a singing game, the business of the day was to select girls to represent the troop, as guests at Westfield grange casserole supper on Monday evening, March 21. The girls will take part in the program.

Five new scouts worked on tenderfoot requirements, under the direction of leader Mrs. Elmer Shaffer. The Mountaineers, Busy Beavers and Mermaid patrols worked on favors to be distributed to the hospitals during Easter, un-

Villagers Evicted From Atop Tombs

CAIRO—(INS)—Nine thousand villagers, whose forefathers some 2,000 years ago settled atop the tombs of the Pharaohs of ancient Egypt, are unhappy because the government is moving them into a model village.

Although they live in mud huts backed by caves that riddle the fantastically rugged hills of the Valley of Kings, they are filled with resentment.

With an eye to the American tourist traffic, they have long scrawled in the soil and the sand that hid the tombs for 3,000-year-old beads and little figures of Egyptian gods and fragments of engravings.

This was their livelihood, but Egyptologists—American, British French and Egyptian—regarded it with some apprehension. Every now and then a villager would come across a museum piece. It would be sold and become untraceable.

Now everything is becoming systematized. When the villagers move into the spacious model village being built for them at government expense, Egyptologists will start digging beneath their houses, where it is believed more and more tombs are lying.

The Automotive Safety Foundation reports from Washington, D. C., that the 1946 national rate of vehicle miles, dropped to 8.1 in 1947. Deaths last year totaled 32,500, compared with 33,700 in 1946.

Queen Appears At Juvenile Session

LONDON.—(INS)—When Queen Mary and her daughter, the Princess Royal, spent an afternoon in East London Juvenile Court parents and children mistook them for two new probation officers.

The royal pair sat attentively at a red plush table in Toynebee Hall learning at first hand about juvenile delinquency.

They heard all about a twelve-year-old girl who was charged with sealing a youngster of four on the hotplate of an electric stove. The Queen appeared distressed as counsel detailed.

The corners of Queen Mary's mouth twirled as eight-year-old "Bill" confessed cheerfully to daubing a chicken with red paint.

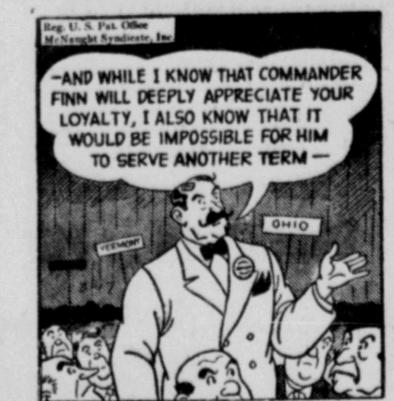

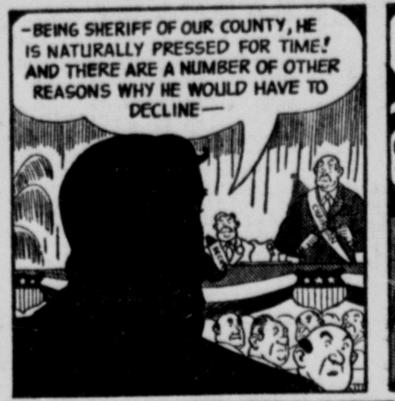

After two and a half hours the chairman sat down to adjourn court for a rest and a cup of tea.

Queen Mary thought otherwise. "You had better finish the cases," she commented. "We can have tea afterwards."

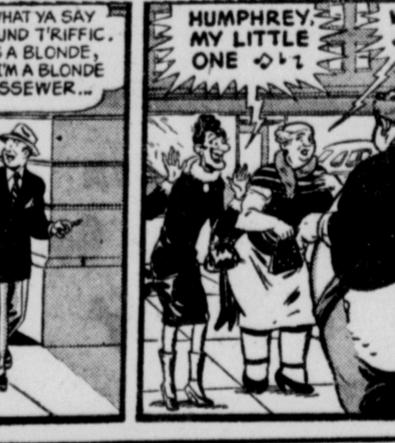

The chairman sat down abruptly and court proceeded.

Boxing Is Definitely On Upswing Markson Declares

By HARRY MARKSON
(Managing Director, 20th Century Sporting Club)

(Written Expressly for International News Service.)

NEW YORK, March 17.—During the war, boxing men predicted that there would be a great rush of boxers emerging from the armed forces to fill rings all over the country with talent.

A lone dissenter from this opinion was Mike Jacobs who maintained that it would be several years after the war before a new crop of fist fighters would develop.

Events have shown that Mike Jacobs was correct, and that the other prognosticators were wrong, for the anticipated crop of boxers has failed to materialize.

Today boxing promoters in New York and elsewhere throughout the country are searching for "new faces." Here and there new and exciting star bout fighters have appeared but in the main, the promoters have had to go along with the same names which were prominent before, during, and after the war.

Bringing Results

The search for new talent is, however, beginning to bring results, and young boxers in every weight classification are showing definite signs of developing into top flight attractions.

It is true that only two or three fighters loom as potential opponents for Joe Louis' heavyweight crown, but it is likewise true that the division does have several highly promising prospects, among them Bernie Reynolds, Roland Lastarza, Joe Chesul, Freddy Beshore, Caesar Brione, to name a few.

To be sure, none of these fighters is ready yet to compete for top laurels, but each has shown true potentialities, and the next several months may see some of them enter the contender class.

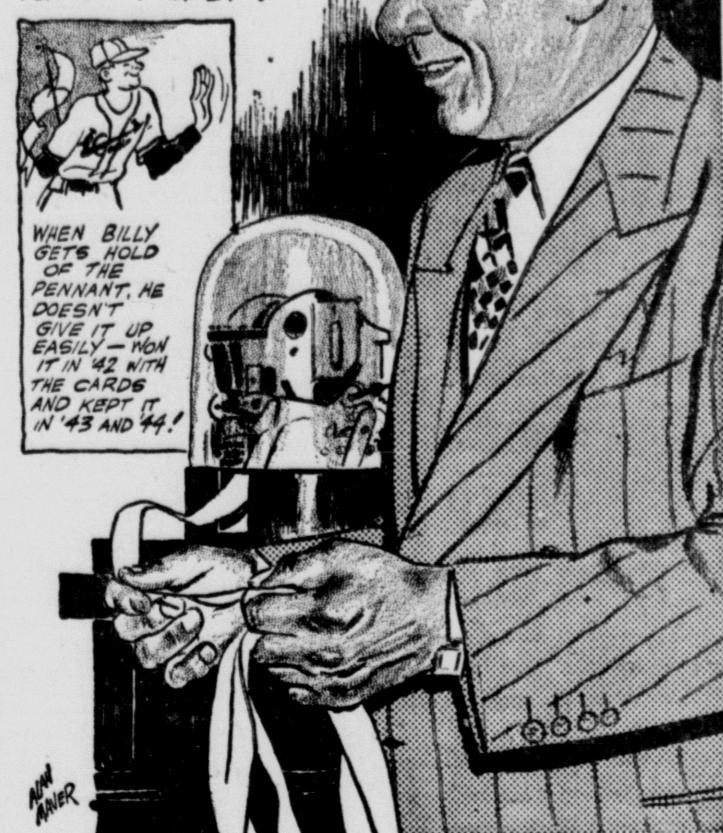

In the lower classes too, there are numerous prospects who have shown enough talent to warrant rosy predictions for their future in the ring.

Boxing on Upswing

Reports from all over the country indicate that boxing is on the upswing. The assertion that there is nothing wrong with boxing that some good fights won't cure, was illustrated most clearly in recent weeks by the turn-out of fans for the Williams-Gavilan and Pep-

Saddler bouts at Madison Square Garden.

It is obvious of course that boxing promoters, as all sports promoters, are faced with new problems springing from television. These are problems which will be solved. The fear that the day may not be far distant when boxing would be conducted in a television studio is to my mind unfounded.

Need Big Arenas

There will always be need in the television era for major arenas, such as Madison Square Garden, because it is already evident that many people who never had any interest in boxing have suddenly developed an interest through witnessing boxing on their television screens.

Many are finding their way to the box offices to see the performers in person. People like to be part of the crowd at big sports events. They enjoy the excitement, they like to be part of the spectacle, an experience which one does not get, seated at home in the comfort of an easy chair or seated on a stool in a corner tavern.

Many sport promoters may not agree with me, but I say that eventually television will react to the benefit of sports, and especially to boxing.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

TODAY is St. Patrick's and, it is appropriate to chronicle something about Irish-Americans who trod the ring, either as Master of 'Em All, near-King, or prominent Actor in the Drama of Punch. Among them are the Great John L. Sullivan, clever Jim Corbett, Terrible Terry McGovern, classy Johnny Kilbane, the St. Paul Phantom, Mike Gibbons, and his rugged brother, Tom; the smooth Packy McFarland, Tommy Loughran; the unbeatable, and retired Champion Heavyweight Gene Tunney, Young Corbett, Mike O'Dowd, Mickle Walker, Mike McGee, and, of course, not forgetting the Dedoubtable Patsy Brannigan, and Bearcat Tom McMahon. All of the foreign, and possibly others of Irish-American ancestry, played a vivid role in putting boxing on a high plane with resultant big purses.

The Great John L. was at his best when bare-knuckle days were about over. Known as Boston's Strong Boy, when he put on gloves, he almost pulverized opponents. He travelled the country-over, meeting all-comers, but tired of training, he entered the ring out of condition, and fell prey September 2, 1892 to the former California bank employee, clever Jim Corbett. After his downfall, the Great John L. proved great, saying, in effect, that: "If I had to be beat, I am glad to have been beat by an American."

Corbett evolved the present, scientific principles of what is known as the Manly Art of Self Defense. He combined brawn with brain and first attracted attention by drawing with Peter Jackson in 61 rounds in 1891. Jim lost the title to Bob Fitzsimmons by a knockout in 14 rounds, on St. Patrick's day, 1897, at Carson City, Nev.

Terrible Terry McGovern, so-called because of his vicious attack, won the featherweight crown (at 122) from the great George Dixon by a knockout in January, 1900. The K. O. came in the ninth round. He instead met Frank Erne at 128, who had agreed to stop McGovern. Instead, Terrible Terry knocked Erne out in five sessions. He was upset by Young Corbett, in two rounds at Hartford, Conn., in 1901, who was devoured by Tommy Sullivan, another Irish-American.

After clever Abe Attel took Sullivan's title, he fought and lost to Johnny Kilbane, at 122, in 1912. Kilbane was managed by Jimmie Dunn of New Castle. Johnny held a title second longest only to Joe Louis, having owned the diadem for more than 11 years. He was as clever as a spider, was brainy and never let his right hand fly, unless he was sure of striking a vulnerable objective. He lost to Eugene Criqui, after he had passed his peak, in 1923, in New York City.

Mike Gibbons never was a champion, but deserved to be. He was as clever as a magician and his rugged brother, Tom, held Jack Dempsey off for 15 rounds, at Shelby, Mont.

Packy McFarland was one of the greatest of the great, but like Mike Gibbons, never held a title. When McFarland and Mike fought in the east, it was a classic in boxing, an eyeful for science lovers.

Gene Tunney came from the Marines to twice beat Jack Dempsey, the Manassa Mauler, (who is of Scotch-Irish-American ancestry) the first time in Philadelphia, the second time in Chicago. Gene was clever and used his head to think with, not be punched off.

Mike McTigue, born in County Clare, Ireland, won the light-heavyweight title from Battling Siki on St. Patrick's day in Dublin, in 1923, losing the crown to Paul Berlenbach in New York City, May 30, 1925.

Mike O'Dowd carried the fight so viciously to Al McCoy, who won the middleweight crown from George Chip, he won the title by a knockout in six rounds in Brooklyn, November 14, 1917, to drop it to Johnny Wilson three years later.

After Jack Delaney, the French-Canadian renounced the light-heavyweight crown, Delaney was ordered to fight Tommy Loughran who won the crown in 1927, and he successfully defended it against Jimmy Slattery, Mickle Walker and James J. Braddock, after which he essayed the role of heavyweight but was knocked out by Jack Sharkey in three rounds.

Mickle Walker, abandoned the welterweight title, lost a middle-weight battle to Harry Greb in 1926, but in a second middleweight fight decrowned Tiger Flowers after which he beat Tommy Milligan in England, and as a heavyweight defeated Johnny Riski and K. O. Christner. He was known as the Toy Bulldog, and since giving up fighting, has become an artist.

There may have been other Kings of Sock of Irish-American ancestry. Here & There could write the sports page full with their achievements, but in conclusion, will say that no more rugged bantamweight, or featherweight, than Patsy Brannigan, ever trod the squared circle. He took 'em all on, from champion, to runner-up and fought about 600 times, having been knocked down only twice and technically stopped once.

Bearcat Tom McMahon, now about 60 years old, was a rugged, earnest fighter of Jimmy Dime's stable, who fought anyone he was told to, among 'em being Carl Morris, tough Sailor Burke, Jim Barry, Gunboat Smith, and won a popular decision over Big Jess Willard at Youngstown, before Jess won the title from Jack Johnson in Havana.

Yes, years ago, the Irish-Americans were star actors in the Drama of Punch. Of recent years, not so many of the ancestry have taken to fistfights. They've entered other channels of sports, and like their predecessors in boxing, are having their praises sung, not only on St. Patrick's day, but 365 days of the year.

Training Camp News In Brief

(INS)

(By International News Service)

Remember a guy named Stanley Musial?

The St. Louis Cardinals' "Mr. Baseball" is wasting no time in getting ready to duplicate his great 1948 season, in which he won the National league batting championship and most valuable player award.

Yesterday at St. Petersburg, Fla., he socked a ninth inning triple that was the vital blow in the Cards' 5 to 4 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Musial's three-bagger drove in the tying run, and Stan trotted on with the winning tally himself on Ed Sauer's fly.

Macks Shade Bums

A couple of other slightly jaded stars of other years indicated they were pounding the comeback trail, but hard. Sam Chapman's 11thinning triple, scoring Hank Majeski, gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 4 to 3 decision over Brooklyn at Vero Beach. It was the Dodgers' first exhibition defeat.

Nicholson Homers

The Phillies won their fourth grapefruit league game in five starts when Bill Nicholson, often called "Swish," hit his first home run since being traded to Philadelphia by the Chicago Cubs.

The Phillies defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 2 to 1, the lone Redie run coming on Bobby Adams' secondinning homer.

Tigers Claw Braves

The National league champion Boston Braves continued to have trouble with the Detroit Tigers, who won yesterday's game, 7 to 2. However, all but one Tiger run came at the expense of rookies Bob Hall and Dick Manville.

Indians Scalp Sox

The world champion Cleveland Indians whipped the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2, although Sox outfielder Gus Zernial tagged tribal rookie Mike Garcia for a homer in the sixth.

Tanks Down Senators

Although it didn't tend to make them over-confident, the New York Yankees made short work of the Washington Senators, 7 to 3. Jerry Coleman, light-hitting rookie shortstop, hit a two-run homer, and pitcher Bob Porterfield allowed only a beat-out bunt in five innings on the mound.

Pirates-Browns Lose

The St. Louis Browns and Pittsburgh Pirates each took a licking from a Pacific Coast league opponent. San Francisco defeated the Browns, 7 to 5, and Oakland edged Pittsburgh, 5 to 4.

Both the Yankees and Red Sox are banking on comebacks to give their pitching an added lift.

Gehrman Seeks

New Track Mark

CHICAGO, March 17—(INS)—

Don Gehrman, who was supposed to menace the record book in last Saturday's Illinois Tech relays (except for one thing—he didn't show up), is still record-minded with the big Chicago relays only a couple of nights away.

The University of Wisconsin's prize miler hasn't been in a mixed sort of meet like the forthcoming relays since he won the Wanamaker mile at Madison Square Garden two months ago, in 4:09.4. At that time, he had Holland's Willy Slykins, giving him trouble all the way not to mention the starter, who, Gehrman claimed subsequently, had a fast gun in his hand.

SEEK TO INCREASE HUNTING LICENSES

HARRISBURG, March 17—(INS)—

The Pennsylvania Game Commission campaigned vigorously today for legislation increasing resident hunting licenses from $2 to $3.65.

President Ross L. Leffler said money derived from the increase should the legislation pass, would be the "biggest bargain found anywhere for the privilege of hunting both big and small game and trapping all kinds of furbearers."

Fifteen cents of the license fee would be payable to the issuing agent.

Phil Hergesheimer
Sets Hockey Mark

(By International News Service)

Phil Hergesheimer, of the Philadelphia Rockets, today held the Glen Moussau memorial trophy for becoming the first player in American hockey league history to tally 250 goals.

Hergesheimer scored twice, although the Rockets went down before the Springfield Indians, 8-5, at the Philadelphia Arena.

In other league games, Buffalo defeated Cleveland, 4-3, and Pittsburgh walloped Hershey, 10-4.

Mack, who steered his Philadelphia A's home fourth in 1948, plays his cards close to the belt.

Oakmont Battles Carmichael High

PITTSBURGH, March 17—(INS)—Oakmont meets Carmichael at Pitt stadium tonight in the WPIAL Class B championship playoff.

Oakmont defeated Verona, 30-27, then Evans City 43-39, and finally Elder Ridge 47-40 to move into the finals.

Carmichael eliminated East Washington, 65-29, West Newton, 39-37 and East McKeesport 46-44 before reaching the final frame.

None of the Indians' principal rivals of a year ago did as much as Veeck to strengthen their staffs.

Dropo's Hopes As High As He Is; Six-Foot-Five Bosox Rookie A Slugger

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch
SARASOTA, Fla., March 17.
You can give Hank Greenberg an assist if Walter Dropo becomes a major league baseball star.

Hank, now vice president of the Cleveland Indians, is and was No. 1 baseball hero of the Connecticut Cloutier, who has been busting down the fences in Payne Field here as he makes a bid for the first base job of the Boston Red Sox.

"I only hope I can be as good a ball player as he was," the big Connecticut youth told us. "I always liked Greenberg because he and I have about the same physical qualifications."

Dropo, with one year of minor league experience, is the talk of the Red Sox camp.

He hit four balls over the left and center field walls here in the first two days of batting practice, a mere pike of around 400 feet.

And when he takes over at first base, he leaps in the air or reaches out after them like a giant twice the 6-foot 5-inch human tower he actually is.

Everyone in camp expects Dropo to make it this year. He came along fast last season after being given a look-at-in-the Sox camp. He went to Louisville first but the cold weather hampered him and he was sent on to Birmingham where he had a fine season, hitting .359 in 118 games and splitting the Dixie series apart with his power hitting. He socked nine home runs in the series, one of them winning a ball game.

Dropo is one of those all-around athletes who could be a star in pro football, baseball or basketball. He was one of the outstanding athletes at the University of Connecticut and as an end in football he was drafted by the Chicago Bears.

Walter Dropo

"I felt I could do better in baseball," he told us, "for in baseball your career can last 12 years or more compared to the average five in pro football. Besides, the money is better."

Walt has his heart set on making the Red Sox varsity this year but says that if he is sent down he will fight just as hard to make good.

Tallest player on the Red Sox roster, Dropo is not so big and hefty he cannot handle the first-base bag with a semblance of finesse. A righthanded hitter, he carries a terrific punch at the plate.

The Red Sox picked him up after he graduated from the University of Connecticut in 1947. Scouts were watching him before that, scouts from the Red Sox, Dodgers, Yanks, Phillies, and Cubs. The Sox gave him the best bonus offer, however, and Dropo signed after graduation.

Dropo credits Johnny Murphy, former Yankee twirler and now head of the Red Sox farm system, as helping him the most.

"He came down to Birmingham last year and told me what type of pitching I should hit at and what not to hit at. And it helped me a lot."

Dropo is one of seven children. His dad and mother were born in Yugoslavia. His dad is in the textile business back home, which is Moosup, Conn., a little town of 1,500 population.

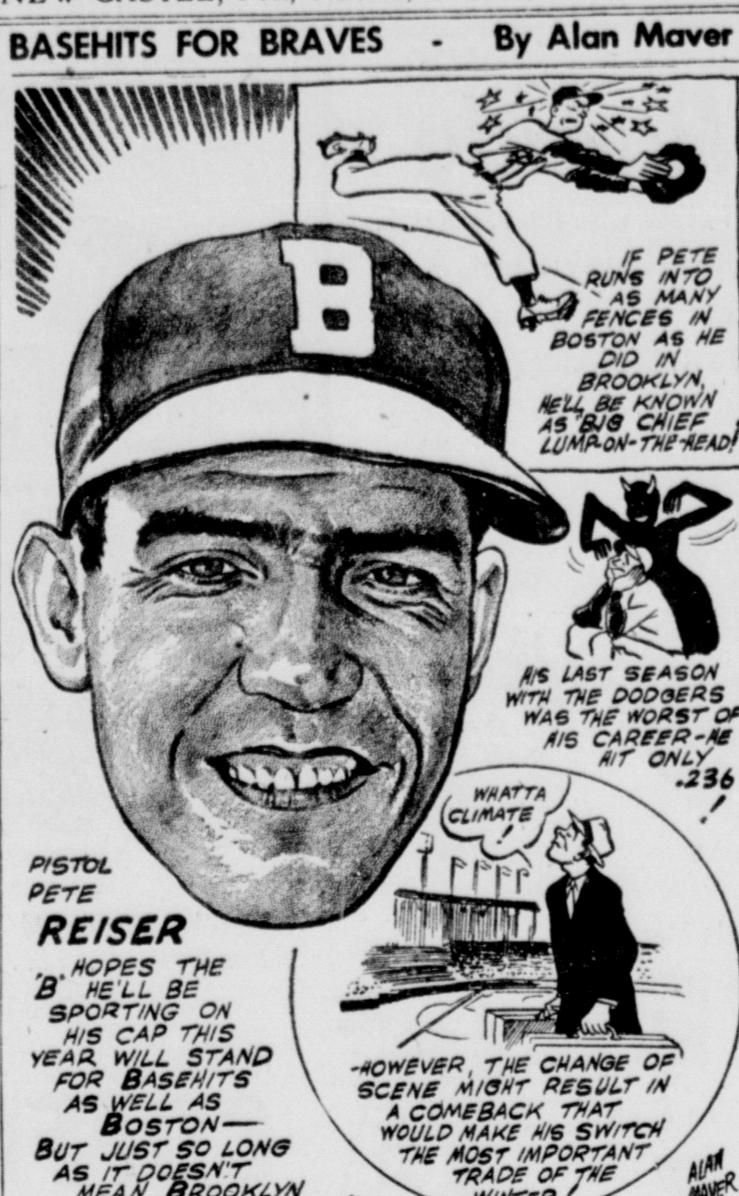

Only one other member of his family played ball. That was his brother Milton, 26, who was a catcher for the University of Connecticut.

At Plainfield high Dropo was a three-sport star and before graduating had captained the grid, diamond and cage teams.

At the University of Connecticut he was an outstanding basketball star, averaging 21 points a game. In college baseball he always hit over .400.

Dropo is 25 years old, unmarried and lives at home with his parents in the off season. He works for Earl Torgeson, the Boston Braves' first sacker, as a sporting goods salesman in the winter time.

Facts And Figures On Reign Of Louis

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 17. (INS) — Here, at a glance, are the facts and figures on the fabulous reign by Joe Louis as world's heavyweight boxing champion:

Won title: In Chicago June 22, 1937, knocking out Champion Jim Braddock in the eighth round.

Defended title: 25 times, winning all but three by knockouts. Only Tommy Farr, Arturo Godoy and Joe Walcott in his first battle with Louis managed to last the distance.

Total ring earnings to 1949: $3,887,323.72, including exhibitions (plus an estimated $250,000 earned in exhibitions this year.)

Number of professional fights: 70.

Number of victories as a pro: 69. (During his entire professional ring career Louis lost only once, to Max Schmeling in 1936, whom he later knocked sprawling in the first round.)

First pro fight: Against Jack Kracken in Chicago, for which Louis was paid $50.

Biggest money fight: On June 19, 1946 against Billy Conn, $625,191.44.

Last title defense: June 25, 1948 at Yankee Stadium, New York, when Louis knocked out Jersey Joe Walcott, in 11 rounds.

Louis' reign as champion was the longest for a heavyweight champion in modern ring annals. Jack Dempsey held the title seven years. Louis' number of defenses also is a record no modern champion has approached.

Mongiello brings to the New Castle club a world of experience in baseball from the time he was bat boy for the New York Yankees, through several world series, and etc.

Knew Stars Well

Many an interesting tale can be told by the popular Billy tell of his many hours spent with the late Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri, Bob Meusel and others. Mongiello knew and loved these former greats, the first three of whom have departed this earth.

“Nats” To Have Colorful Leader

Billy Mongiello, former New York Yankee Bat Boy, Brings Experience Here

New Castle baseball fans, followers of the Nationals of the Mid-Atlantic league, will learn to like and respect the newly signed playing-manager, William "Billy" Mongiello.

Mongiello brings to the New Castle club a world of experience in baseball from the time he was bat boy for the New York Yankees, through several world series, and etc.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, favorites to win the National league pennant, are all set for the coming season, except that they need a first baseman, a third baseman, a regular outfield and possibly some pitching.

Mongiello learned his baseball under men of this type from his childhood on the sidewalks of New York. Down through the years he has acquired a vast knowledge of the game. He knows the heartaches and sadness of baseball, as well as fame and glory.

Will Play Third

Billy will play third base for New Castle this summer, a post he held down well as the manager of the Uniontown Coal Barons last year, finishing third in the Mid-Atlantic.

Mongiello's one ambition is to turn out a championship team here at New Castle, and will be trying hard this summer to achieve this goal.

At the present time Mongiello has his headquarters at the Hotel New Penn and is fast acquiring a host of friends here with his pleasing personality and ready smile. Mongiello is in his early thirties.
